Call For County Inquiry

Governor Sends Telegram to Kansas City Judge; Drawing Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—Senator Tobey (R.-N.H.) said today the American Telephone and Telegraph Company hasn't "done a damn thing" to stop big-time gamblers from conducting business by long distance telephone.

But the company's attorney, S. Whitney Landon, denied the accusation and said telephone companies do not have the responsibility of policing the gambling world.

Furthermore, he said, it would be "dangerous" for a telephone company "to assume the function of law enforcement."

Landon said the A. T. and T. has denied private line service to gamblers and bookmakers and is cooperating in every way possible with local law enforcement agencies to halt illegal use of telephones.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 1—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith called today for Jackson county grand jury to investigate Kansas City racketeering uncovered by a federal grand jury.

He sent a telegram to Circuit Judge Ray G. Cowan, presiding judge of the Jackson county circuit court, asking him to set the state's legal machinery in motion.

The governor urged that the county grand jury "investigate all law violations with special emphasis on gambling rackets and state income tax evasions."

Smith told his news conference he would also direct Attorney General J. E. Taylor, the State Highway Patrol and other law enforcement agencies to cooperate in the investigation.

Phoned Judge Duncan

Taylor already had telegraphed Federal District Judge Richard M. Duncan, asking that evidence dug up by the federal grand jury be turned over to him. He said he would cooperate with local law enforcement officials and any state grand jury to be called.

The governor and the attorney general acted on the basis of a federal grand jury report, released Saturday, that gambling activities in Kansas City amounted to more than $34,000,000 annually.

Smith told newsmen he was convinced "practically everything referred to" by the grand jury happened before he took office in January, 1949.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1—(AP)—Here is the text of Gov. Forrest Smith's telegram today urging that a grand jury be called to investigate racketeering in Kansas City:

"Sunday's press carried a report from the federal grand jury stating it had uncovered evidence of many violations of state laws of Missouri. The report further states that gambling rackets have reached the astounding figure of millions of dollars annually.

"The press further reports the evidence and information collected by the federal grand jury of violations of Missouri laws will be available to a state grand jury. I am advised that most of this enormous gambling racket existed in the years 1942 to 1948 inclusive.

"To protect Missouri against the statute of limitations and to ferret out any such violations, if they still exist today, I am most earnestly urging you to call a grand jury immediately to thoroughly investigate all law violations with special emphasis on gambling rackets and state income tax evasions.

"Forrest Smith, Governor."

He said Chief of Police Henry W. Johnson of Kansas City was preparing a report showing that "none of those places are running now or have been running for over two years." The governor and Johnson conferred by telephone yesterday.

Reorganizing Police Board

The governor is in the midst of reorganizing the Kansas City police board, the state agency that runs the police department there. One police commissioner has been replaced, a second has resigned and two others—Hampton S. Chambers and R. Robert Cohn—have announced they will not resign.

They said Smith would have to oust them if he wants them to quit. The governor said he had no statement on the police board situation. He declined to say (Please turn to page 6, col. 6)

Expansion of Dollar Volume In This County

Preliminary Figures Released By Government

Retail, wholesale, and service establishments located in Pettis County, Missouri, showed a substantial expansion in dollar volume of trade from 1939 to 1948 according to preliminary figures from the 1948 Census of Business released today by the Bureau of Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Retail sales in the county during 1948 aggregated $29.3 million, an increase of 241 percent over the $8.6 million in 1939, when the preceding Census of Business was taken. Wholesale sales in the county reached a total of $15.8 million in 1948 as compared with $4.7 million in 1939. The service trades included in the Census of Business recorded receipts totaling $1.9 million in 1948 compared with $0.4 million in 1939.

Employment Up

Employment in the county also rose over the 9-year period between 1939 and 1948 for the above trades. Establishments in these trades reported a combined total of 2,393 paid employees for the workweek ended nearest November 13, 1948. This compared with a total of 1,558 employees reported for the week of November 15, 1939.

These preliminary figures have been derived from a Census report on Pettis County, Missouri, which also includes data for the city of Sedalia. Final figures superseding the preliminary data for Pettis County, will be included in a Bulletin for the State of Missouri to be issued in several months. Similar data will be made available this year in preliminary and final form for each of the counties and States. A single copy of the preliminary release for Pettis County as well as an order blank for other area releases may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 1—(AP)—Here's a vending machine that gets mad and fights back.

The machine clanked. Red lights flashed: "Sold out."

More and More Businessmen Are Betting on Good Days

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—More and more business men are betting on good days ahead. Executives are backing their bets with forward orders. Many who were buying on a 30 to 60 day basis are switching over to 60 to 90 day buying.

This inventory boom is in direct contrast to the inventory recession which the same businessmen were staging just a year ago. Then industry all the way from the factory to the store, was busy cutting back stocks of goods and raw materials on hand.

During the year corporate inventories dropped by $4.7 billion to $43.8 billion. Now they appear to be on their way up again. But production and sales are on the way up, too. And some companies are producing at a much faster

Under the four-year scholarships, the candidates receive $50 a month, fees and tuition and uniforms. After completion of the course they are commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve and must serve two years of active duty.

Included in the list of candidates are two Sedalia youths, James Wearing Atkinson, Jr., 2101 East Sixteenth street and Marvin Frank Hanigan, 505 East Fourth street.

Truman Goes Over Plans For His Trip

Rayburn Presents Him With New Speaking Stand

By Ernest B. Vaccaro
WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—President Truman went over legislative plans with his congressional leaders today preparatory to taking off Monday in a 6,400-mile stumping tour.

He conferred at the White House with Speaker Rayburn (Tex.), Senate majority leader Lucas (Ill.), and House majority leader McCormack (Mass.).

Rayburn took the president a new adjustable speaking stand which he said might be helpful to the chief executive on his trip. It is so made, Rayburn said, that it can be brought closer to the president's eyes and not require him to stoop to read the text of his addresses.

Rayburn said the progress of the appropriation bill was discussed. He predicted House passage by next week. He said the appropriations bill will be followed by consideration of some of the reorganization proposals.

"And we've got to get out a road authorization bill before June 30 as well as a tax bill," Rayburn commented.

Expects Tax Action Soon

He said he expects action on taxes "pretty soon" after the ways and means committee finishes its hearings.

Lucas predicted passage of an expanded social security bill before adjournment.

The group talked over politics "in a general way" according to Rayburn.

The president is depending on eight prepared speeches and any number of homey-trackside chats on his cross-section tour to bolster his "fair deal."

To meet this expected barrage, the Republicans laid plans for calling up their own big guns whenever Mr. Truman speaks out. He starts for the west next Sunday on a 6,400-mile stumping tour carrying him into 16 states.

Ready to Reply

Such Republicans as Senator Taft of Ohio, Rep. Martin of Pennsylvania, Senator Wherry of Nebraska and National Chairman Guy Gabrielson are expected to be ready to reply on any issues Mr. Truman raises along the route.

"This is a fight and we're going to be in it every minute," said Senator Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee.

The presidential tour is the first of a series of cross-country trips Mr. Truman will make before the voting in November. It will be built around the eight prepared speeches—one a day—starting Monday, May 8 at Lincoln, Neb.

However, he will make dozens of other talks from the rear platform of his bulletproof private car.

Chatty Appeals

These chatty, neighborly appeals to the voters featured his 31,500-mile campaign for the presidency in 1948.

The president's itinerary, made public last night, made no attempt to list the towns at which he plans to make platform appearances.

However, one of his top aides told reporters that "You may be sure that the president will be prepared to step out and talk at almost any town where his train stops."

In addition to the Lincoln speech, the president plans prepared talks at Casper, Wyo., May 9; Pendleton, Ore., May 10; Grand Coulee Dam, Wash., May 11; Butte, Mont., May 12; Fargo, N. D., May 13; Madison, Wis., May 14; and Chicago May 15.

The Weather

Partly cloudy this afternoon, highest near 60. Intermittent showers beginning tonight and continuing and continuing Tuesday. Low tonight near 45. High Tues. in 60s.

Temperature: 7 a. m. 40 degrees; 2 p. m. 53 degrees.

Rainfall Saturday night: .05 inch.

Lake of the Ozarks: 6.1; no change.

Rocking Chair Blocks Without Anyone in it

MUSCATINE, Ia., May 1—(AP)—The Floyd Holladays have decided that they'll probably have to sell their restless rocking chair to get any place.

More than a thousand curious persons swarmed into the Holladay home yesterday to view the unorthodox platform rocker which rocks even though no one is in it.

Holladay said he's fond of the old chair but now he thinks he'll sell it if the price is right.

The week-end was a perpetual impromptu open house. Many visitors came away mystified. Others had a variety of explanations.

Morton Gailey, Muscatine high school science instructor, noted that the chair is "very delicately balanced." He said vibrations from passing cars, footsteps and slamming doors may be causing the chair to rock gently.

Bomber Falls Into Tree, Six Persons Killed

Drops Between Houses, One is Entirely Destroyed

LEBANON, Ill., May 1—(AP)—A blazing air force B-25 bomber crashed into a tree between two houses shortly after noon yesterday, killing the plane's six occupants.

One home, that of Frank H. Wolf, was destroyed. Luckily, Wolf, his wife and three children were away fishing. The house of Walter Bridges was damaged.

Bridges was sitting in his kitchen when debris showered past his head. He was injured slightly. A neighbor, Mrs. Henry Christy, was emptying garbage in the alley behind the houses. She was cut on the leg.

Scott Air Base officials identified those on the plane as Col. Richmond A. Livingstone, Capt. Richard L. Watson, Little Rock, Ark., Staff Sgt. Ralph H. Wallace, Greenville, Tex.; Staff Sgt. James A. Strum, Nashville, N. C.; and Tech. Sgt. William I. Ball, Olan, Ark.

Wreckage scattered over a wide area and several other homes in the block were damaged slightly.

Witnesses told of the plane coming in low over the city as the motors failed. Wilber Toles, who was working on a farm just outside town, said there was "a big noise and flames shot out." The motors came on again, then went off as the plane headed for the ground, he added.

Air Force officers said the plane was from the Perrin air base at Waco, Tex., and had just taken off from Scott Air Base after an overnight stop on a cross country flight.

Lebanon is 25 miles east of St. Louis in St. Clair county.

Weather More Like Winter

By The Associated Press

The chilly weather—more like winter than spring—is on the way out of the north central states.

Temperatures were expected to start climbing today to seasonal normals. Another setback is in prospect for tonight but the rise will begin again tomorrow, and the Chicago weather bureau adds that spring then might be here to stay.

Light snow was falling this morning in extreme northern Minnesota while upper Michigan and northern Wisconsin had a mixture of snow and drizzle.

Forecasters J. Badner said, however, snow at this time of year is not too unusual in that area.

Rain areas included northern Alabama and Georgia northeastward to the middle Atlantic states, the southern New England states, some parts of the central plains, and the Pacific northwest.

Philip S. D., had the lowest temperature among early weather reports, a subfreezing 18. Old Town, Me., had a low of 30 degrees. Mild weather prevailed generally over the southern half of the nation.

Teacher Slugged, Robbed

KANSAS CITY, May 1—(AP)—A 53-year-old high school teacher was treated at a hospital yesterday for injuries received when she was slugged and robbed by a prowler in her apartment, police said.

Officers said Miss Naomi C. Simpson was awakened by the prowler and slugged when she screamed. The prowler fled with $18.

Mrs. May Kennedy McCord is The State Mother of 1950

MOBERLY, Mo., May 1—(AP)—Mrs. May Kennedy McCord, Springfield writer, radio commentator, clubwoman and church worker is the Missouri State Mother of 1950.

Selection of Mrs. McCord, 717 North Jefferson street, Springfield, was disclosed today by Mrs. W. D. Tompkins, state chairman of the American Mothers committee, Golden Rule Foundation, New York.

The 68-year-old Carthage, Mo. native was the unanimous choice of the state committee.

Mrs. McCord, a widow, is the mother of two sons and a daughter, all of whom make their homes in Springfield. They are Leslie McCord, 37, state excise officer; Mrs. Maud Eva Janss, 42, former high school languages instructor who now is a housewife; and Charles McCord, 44, manager of a lumber concern.

The Missouri Mother of 1950 has a weekly radio program broadcast by a Springfield station which features her down-to-earth philosophy of living, keen sense of humor and vocal and instrumental abilities. She plays several musical instruments.

Mrs. McCord is an accepted authority on Ozark folklore and has been listed in "Who's Who." One hundred of her Ozark ballad recordings are filed in the Library of Congress.

State Running Cars, Busses

KANSAS CITY, May 1—(AP)—Missouri's Gov. Forrest Smith was in charge of the Kansas City Public Service company today and street cars and busses were operating as usual.

The governor took over operation of the company at 11 o'clock last night under the King-Thompson Utility Act. Union employees of the company had voted to go on strike at midnight. The King-Thompson Act prohibits strikes on public utilities.

Smith's action was the first seizure in Missouri since the act became law Sept. 10, 1947.

The union had called a strike rather than accept a five cent per hour wage decrease the company proposed to place in effect.

The chairman of the state mediation board, Vance Julian of Clinton, was named by the governor to take charge of the operation.

Company officials and employees continued normal operations. No ceremony accompanied the seizure.

Vote To Cut Excise Tax

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—The house voted today to cut the excise tax of alcohol used for medicinal purposes from $3 to $2 a gallon.

This would amount to an estimated $2,300,000 loss in government revenue yearly and raise the total excise tax cuts approved by the committee to about $970,000,000.

Today's action does not disturb the $9 a gallon general excise on drinking whisky, which yields about $1,470,000,000 annually.

Mock May Day Observance in Wisconsin Town, Many Assist

By Arthur Bystrom

MOSINEE, Wis., May 1—(AP)—The pajama-clad mayor was dragged into the snowy street and the chief of police was "executed" today as a mock May day insurrection clamped an iron hand over this paper mill community at sunrise.

Police Chief Caryl Gewiss was theoretically shot down in his headquarters for failure to turn over his officers to the Reds. Leader of the flying squad which took over the police station was Benjamin Gitlow, who once was the real secretary-general of the Communist party in the United States.

Real party members were not in evidence as the 2,200 residents of Mosinee began their one-day trial of life under Soviet rule. However, copies of the Daily Worker and pamphlets denouncing the American Legion sponsored demonstration to homes some time Saturday night.

The surprise element apparently was maintained even for city officials in on the planning. One of the coordinated assault teams of six armed men each dragged protesting Mayor Ralph E. Kronenwetter from his bed into the snowy street. He faced Joseph Jack Kornfeder, the commissar-for-the-day, who told the shivering mayor he was an "enemy of the world."

Kronenwetter, his city hall associates and other civic leaders were allowed to dress, then were carted off to a barbed wire enclosure.

While the first arrests were made, other assault teams threw up road blocks, posted proclamations and raised the Red banner over city hall and the police station.

The early arrests lost some of their impressiveness when news-reel, radio men and news photographers rushed through the teams "run through it again." Mayor Kronenwetter, in robe and slippers hustled out his front door three times for photographs. Chief Gewiss's execution followed the same pattern.

Observe May Day In Berlin

Calm Police Action Prevents Any Major Violence; Minor Fights Are Staged

By Thomas A. Reedy and Daniel De Luce

BERLIN, May 1—(AP)—More than a million Berliners massed near the East-West borders in this nerve center of the cold war today in rival May day demonstrations, but calm police action on both sides prevented major violence.

In this shattered city where East meets West across piles of rubble, swirling crowds estimated to number at least 500,000 on each side staged the biggest May day demonstration in Berlin's history.

Stones flew and there were some minor fights, but police dispersed the unruly elements in time to prevent rioting.

On the Communist side of the Brandenburg gate—on Unter Den Linden, where Hitler's legions once marched—Berliners once again heard the thunder of marching feet in regimented union. The Communists were staging a Moscow-like six-hour parade featuring the newly trained Soviet zone police army. It looked like a dress rehearsal for the forthcoming Whitsuntide demonstrations of May 28 in which some fear the Communists may try to take over all Berlin.

BELGRADE, May 1—(AP)—Russia got a ribbing in the May Day parade here today.

One cartoon carried by the paraders depicted Russia as the captain of a boat on the Danube with the pro-Communist satellite countries at the oars. The captain urged the oarsmen to pull harder while he lolled back comfortably at the tiller.

There were other floats depicting the rift between Marshal Tito and the Soviet-led Cominform. They drew jeers and laughter from the crowds.

The Other Side

On the other side of the gate, a multitude of at least a half million—Berlin's anti-Communist mayor said there were 750,000—heard Western German speakers blast Russia and the Communists.

Between these two opposing multitudes were thousands of East and West sector German police lined up along the sector borders, backed on the Western side by thousands of Allied occupation troops alerted for trouble, and guided by reconnaissance planes and helicopters.

It was apparent that both police forces were trying to make May day—an international labor day of the Socialists since 1889—pass without a head-on collision and bloodshed.

As the Western rally broke up, police tried to channel the crowds back in an orderly fashion. Several thousand, led by young men, filtered through police lines and drifted down the East-West sector border to Potsdamer platz, a huge circular area where the British-American and Soviet sectors come together. This has been the scene of many serious collisions.

Started Stoning

Some of the Western demonstrators started stoning East zone police who were barring the way to the Soviet sector. West German police immediately called up reserves, and, with the aid of loud speaker trucks, broke up the budding riot. The demonstrators were forced out of stoning distance. East zone police kept their tempers and did not try to retaliate.

Several other minor incidents were reported, but there was no bloodshed.

On the West side of the frontier, the great crowd gathered early in Tiergarten park, straggling in from all the hundreds of streets, many with children by the hand, as if going to a picnic.

On the Communist side, however, regimentation and organization was evident. Up Unter Den Linden in marching groups came tens of thousands of Communist-led units, marching in formation under countless banners in a German version of the Moscow celebrations. For six hours the drilled, disciplined groups marched past the Communist bosses of East Germany, who were in a bedecked reviewing stand. This was to be followed by an organized showing of East German unity with Russia, to last far into the night.

(P)—Dreams come true in rare ways.

All his life Benny Bufano, a 49-year-old gnome-like artist who is one of San Francisco's best known characters, had dreamed a great dream. He wanted to create a masterpiece of art that would help bring peace into the world.

Well, it's done now—an 18-ton, three-panel series of mosaics. And where does it hang—in the Metropolitan Museum of Art? No. It hangs in a new $500,000 cafeteria at the foot of Powell street, where tourists flock to ride the old-fashioned cable cars.

Benny originally wanted his opus to go to the United Nations. But the money to execute it—$35,000 to $40,000—was advanced by David Moar, a former busboy who worked himself up to head of a multi-million dollar restaurant chain. So the artist is reconciled to the cafeteria setting here for his mosaic.

Just Patted Him on Back

"People always patted me on the back, but never put the money on the line," he said. "Mr. Moar did."

The three mosaics carry out a theme of universal unity. This is symbolized in the gigantic figure of a saintly child with four eyes and a face of three colors—white, black and yellow. This represents a blending of world races. And the child has a zipper in its robe.

"I chose the child as a symbol, because it is only through the innocence of childhood that we can gain true peace," said Benny.

"The zipper is to show it's a modern idea," volunteered Moar,

who is beginning to understand the mosaic himself.

Big Jigsaw Puzzle

Bufano spent more than four months in St. Louis, New York and Italy assembling the 16-foot-high panels.

"It's the biggest jigsaw puzzle you ever saw—1,000,000 pieces of stone in it," said Moar, admiringly. "There were 1,500,000 pieces," said Benny. "The others I threw away."

Moar is confident the huge mosaic, set in a base of stainless steel, will help sell tons of chicken a la king.

"I can see it is already influencing the patrons," he said. One woman, who obviously knew something about art, cried when she saw it."

Lived In Poverty

Bufano, a small, mousehaired, blue-eyed man with a strangely wistful quality, is a genuine artist who has lived in poverty most of his life.

"I'm really a sculptor," he said, "and I originated a process for working in stainless steel."

Benny is a mascot of the San Francisco Press club. Some years ago a group of members decided to charter a $50,000 corporation to finance his art. The art was to be given "to humanity."

"That was fine," said Benny, "but so far I haven't got a cent from them to work with." Which only proves newspapermen are about as businesslike as artists. They never got beyond the charter.

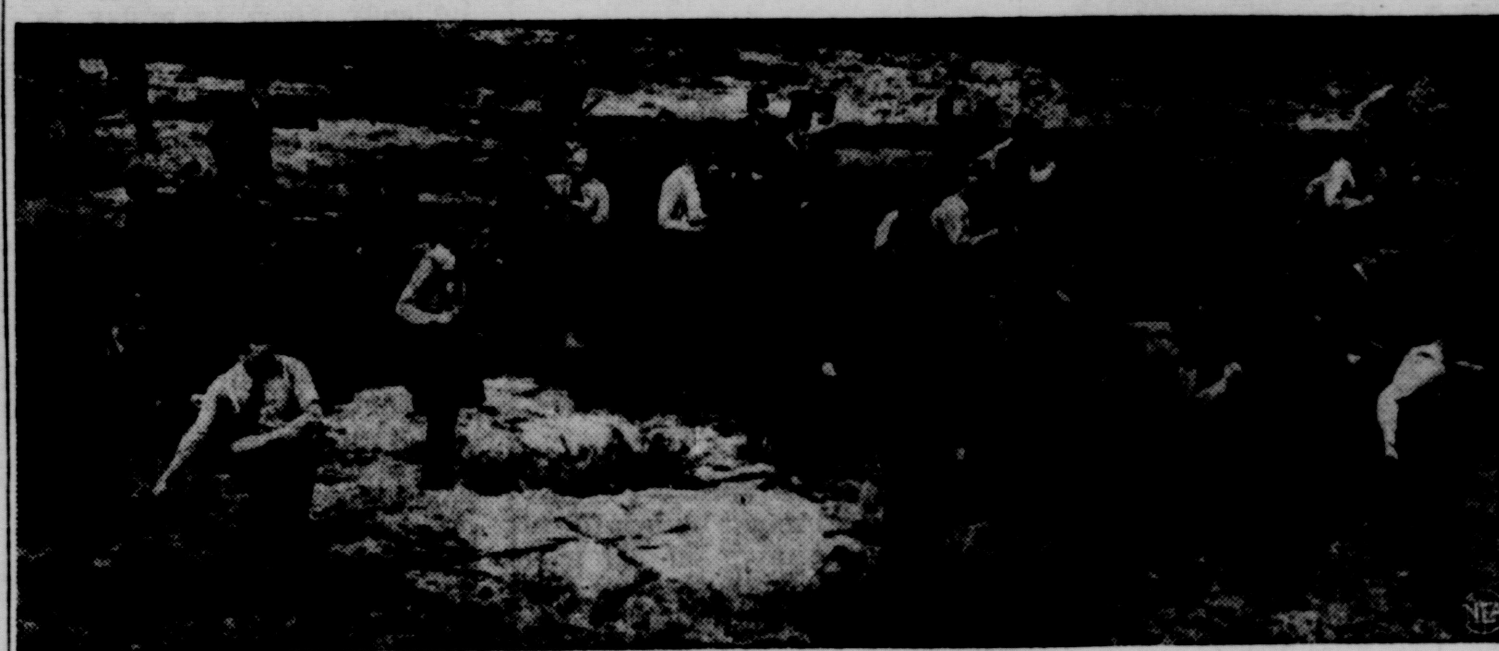

Benny has lifelong free sleeping quarters at the press club, and completion of the mosaic solved another big problem—food. Part of his commission was a gold life pass to the cafeteria.

Disciplines Himself

"But every week I go 30 to 40 hours without food," said Bufano.

MP's with fixed bayonets form a "platoon skirmish line" used to clear streets during rioting.

West sector police practice rounding up rioters in a very realistic exercise.

"I do it just for discipline—an artist must discipline himself. I learned this from Gandhi. I lived with him once for three months."

Benny has a vision deeper than many of those who dismiss him as only a impractical Bohemian. "As men grow older, they get too many complexes," he said. "The diplomats know what's wrong, but their habits won't let them do what's right. The singleness of purpose that will bring world peace can come only from those who have kept the fresh wisdom of children."

Attending the first meeting were Miss Sadie Homan, Mrs. G. A. DeHaven, Miss Zetta Wagenknecht, Mrs. S. R. Hotsenpiller and Miss Dossia Ross, the latter two now deceased.

Miss Sadie Homan was elected the first president and has served in that capacity the entire 42 years. The first secretary-treasurer was Mrs. G. A. DeHaven.

At the first meeting it was decided that the club would meet each Thursday afternoon at the homes of the different members and that refreshments would be served by the hostess. Refreshments were served at the first meeting, too. They were popcorn balls. The second meeting was held at the home of Mrs. G. A. DeHaven, who moved to Kansas City about 30 years ago and from there to Arizona and later to California where in January of this year she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Two Charter Members
Mrs. Morris and Miss Homan, the two remaining charter members are still faithful and active rarely ever missing a meeting, in fact they have missed very few during the entire 42 years.

The motive of the club is needlework, such as embroidery, crocheting, tatting, exchanging patterns and needlework ideas and to help each other whenever help is needed.

As time went on many new members were added and some of the number have died, some moved away and others were unable to attend so have dropped out.

It has been the custom of the club to give a shower at the marriage of a member or at the birth of a child. The first bridal shower was given for Stella Smith at the time of her marriage to Harry Ramseyer. The first baby shower was for Mrs. Ira DeHaven for her daughter, Doynce, on September 26, 1912. She is now Mrs. John Phillips of Kansas City.

Another custom has been to send flowers at the death of a member or anyone who died in the home of a member. The first flowers were for Mrs. Paul Smith. There have been many card showers to members who were ill and four showers have been given to members whose homes were destroyed by fire.

Pleced Friendship Quilt
A few years ago each member pieced a friendship quilt block for each of the other members and embroidered their names on each block. This made a friendship quilt for each member and when the blocks were joined together the club members quilted the quilts.

The first few Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members with each member giving small gifts to all of the other members and then the club grew so large that names were drawn for the exchange of gifts at Christmas time. In more recent years the club members have had secret pals.

Christmas is always an event with members of the club at which time their husbands and families are special guests at a contributive dinner. At first each member was assessed 25 cents to pay for oysters for oyster stew in addition to the rest of the contributive dinner but in more recent years they have not had the oyster stew. The Christmas party is always held in a home that is large enough to accommodate the crowd.

The hostess always served a lunch but as the membership grew it became a custom to have contributed lunches. The club president always reads a helpful thought for the day and returns thanks before the lunch is served.

In 1918, at Christmas time, each member gave a dollar to the Red Cross instead of having a gift exchange. Since that time the club has been making an annual contribution of five dollars to the Red Cross.

There have been four golden wedding anniversaries celebrated by club members, Mr. and Mrs. V. Walter Homan on October 19, 1932; Mr. and Mrs. Newt Hotsenpiller, March 1, 1946; Mr. and Mrs.

George DeHaven on January 31, 1950 and Mr. and Mrs. Ira DeHaven on April 19, 1950.

Life with Tax Gremlins: 1

Editor's Note: "Life With the Tax Gremlins" is a 12-part thumbnail story of the nation's complicated tax structure. The characters: Uncle Sam himself, his Gremlin, State and Local Tax Gremlins, and you—the taxpayers. It's from an "American Affairs" pamphlet published by the National Industrial Conference Board of New York, an independent, non-profit fact-finding institution supported by business, labor and other groups. Some of the articles include comment by Richard A. Mullens, Washington tax expert and author of NEA's annual "Income Tax Primer," which appears each year in the Sedalia Democrat-Capital.

This story begins with the empty bag and Uncle Sam briefing the three Gremlins who are going to fill it. The big Gremlin collects for the federal government; the other two go along to collect state and local taxes. When the bag is full the taxes have to be divided. Uncle Sam's share will be approximately three-quarters. What remains will be shared between the states and municipalities. Thus, three pairs of hands are always working in your pocket.

"Our economists seem to agree that taxation beyond 25 per cent of our national income will bring disaster. If you add up the actual and prospective annual expenditures of the federal government and then state and local governments, and if you truly compute the national income, you will find this warning red light shines with an intensity considerably over 30 per cent. This means far more than nearly one-third of the national income. It means a combustion of your savings and your possible standards of living." — The Honorable Herbert Hoover.

"If every farmer sold his farm, all the equipment on it, and all the livestock, the total return would be $25,000,000,000. The government could not run seven months on that amount of money." — Senator Edward Martin.

"One worker out of nine in our country is on the public payroll." — Senator Harry F. Byrd.

The Briefing: (Richard A. Mullens, NEA's tax expert points out that this cartoon indicates all taxes—state, local and federal, are collected under direction of Uncle Sam. Actually, he adds, most tax experts feel we would have a much better over-all tax system if there was more cooperation between federal, state and local taxing authorities to eliminate the overlapping fields of taxation.)

The contract between the union and lumbermen expired at midnight last night. The union is seeking a 20-cent hourly wage increase and certain vacation adjustments.

O. L. Ring, union representative, said the lumbermen had offered no wage increase.

Important Events In World News

DETROIT, May 1 (AP)—Chrysler's general manager said today only technical wording of a new contract is holding up settlement of the 97-day Chrysler strike, but the United Auto Workers disputed this.

"There are still unresolved issues," the union said in a statement.

Herman L. Weckler, Chrysler vice-president and general manager, indicated only minutes before that a general agreement had been reached.

Weckler indicated the company and the CIO United Auto Workers have agreed on general terms of a contract which provides $100 monthly pensions, including federal social security.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Rep. Karsten (D-Mo.) suggested today that an inquiry be made to determine where the Communism charges of Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) constitute "a hoax, a deceit, or a fraud" upon the American people.

Karsten said in a statement that two Republican-controlled House committees more than two years ago investigated "a list of 108 names of persons employed, or who had applied for employment in the State department, on the question of whether or not they were security risks."

He said the committees found the State department was "handling the situation in a satisfactory manner," and that it appears to him the "majority if not all" of the cases McCarthy has raised were among the 108.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Admiral Forrest P. Sherman said today the Navy has developed guided missiles to the point where they should be put into the fleet immediately, ready for use.

Heads Girls Training School

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1 (AP)—Miss Dorothy Forrest, a 45-year old instructor at the University of Missouri, will become the new superintendent at the Chillicothe Training School for Girls May 15, it was announced today.

Miss Forrest replaces Mrs. Lena R. Smithson who resigned in February to take additional training at northeast Missouri State college, Kirksville.

The state training school board appointed Miss Forrest despite the fact she has not taken a state merit system examination.

The board took the stand last December that superintendents at the three state training schools for delinquents do not come under merit system laws.

The new superintendent at Chillicothe has been an instructor at the university at Columbia for the last four years. Earlier she was a teacher in Carrollton, Mo., public schools for a number of years.

She holds degrees from Baker university at Baldwin, Kas., and from Northwestern university. She also has studied at the universities of Missouri, Southern California and Oxford university in England.

Unique Robbery
EDGELEY, Ont., May 1 (AP)—Arthur Buel, 55, standing on a stool, was papering the living-room walls last night when a fast moving gunman jammed a revolver in his back.

Give Moral Support

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1 (AP)—The Missouri Peace Officers Association gave moral support to its secretary-treasurer who is also police chief of Kansas City, Henry W. Johnson.

Johnson won't be able to get to the annual convention of the organization until tonight because he's tied up with investigations of two recent Lang style slayings and reports of widespread underworld operations in Kansas City.

The peace officers adopted this resolution: "Be it resolved that the Missouri Peace Officers Association, in convention assembled, that as the first official act of this 1950 convention we unanimously express our complete trust and confidence in the Honorable Henry W. Johnson in his present trying and difficult task as chief of police of Kansas City."

The resolution was adopted on a voice vote after its introduction by George Walker, chief of police at Springfield and chairman of the association's executive committee.

Bus With Band Breaks Down

Twenty-five members of the Green Ridge band, en route to the Musical Festival in Columbia, Friday morning, escaped injuries when the bus in which they were riding, ran off into a ditch, between Sedalia and Green Ridge, after a left front wheel of the bus worked loose, and came off.

Gordon Brownfield, who drives the school bus, owned by the Green Ridge school, said no one was hurt, and he didn't know what caused the wheel to come off the axle. A wrecker from Sedalia was called and the broken down bus was towed back to Green Ridge.

Another bus came for the band members and took them on to Columbia, where they participated in the festival that day, and returned to Green Ridge that night.

Unique Robbery
EDGELEY, Ont., May 1 (AP)—Arthur Buel, 55, standing on a stool, was papering the living-room walls last night when a fast moving gunman jammed a revolver in his back.

It all happened so quickly, said Buel, that it wasn't until the bandit had stolen $38 and his watch — and fled — that Buel even got down off the stool.

Fly Control Pointers for Dairy Farms

Clean-Up Program With Proper Use Of Insecticides

Soon flies will be presenting a problem on dairy farms states the Extension office. The U. S. Public Health Service has issued the following on fly control on dairy farms.

The use of insecticides alone to control flies on a farm is of little consequence unless accompanied by a good clean-up program. All manure should be removed and disposed of in such manner as best to prevent the breeding of flies.

Based on existing Federal regulations and recommendations, the following suggestions are being furnished for the use of insecticides on dairy farms:

1. DDT—DDT is NOT to be used on the interior of dairy barns, lounging sheds, milk houses, or on dairy animals. It can, however, be used for spraying the exterior of such buildings. On the interior, for applying a residual spray, there are several insecticides which have been approved or recommended for use by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to which no objection has been offered by the Food and Drug Administration.

2. METHOXYCHLOR—This material is one of the newer insecticides and is available on the market as a 50% wettable powder in small unit packages. Before purchasing, make sure that Methoxychlor is the only insecticidally active ingredient.

3. A. Dairy Barns, Milk House, and Lounging Sheds—Methoxychlor is mixed at the rate of one pound of the 50% wettable powder to 2½ gallons of water and the mixture sprayed with a hand or power sprayer on the walls at a rate of application to make the walls wet, but not running. At this rate one gallon should cover approximately one thousand square feet of wall surface. Repeat as often as presence of flies make it necessary. Generally, complete instructions are furnished on the label of each package: follow them closely.

4. How to Spray Cattle (Including Dairy Cattle) Using Methoxychlor. Use a 50% Methoxychlor wettable powder at the rate of one pound in 12½ gallons of water, and apply about one quart but not more than 2 quarts of the mixture per animal. Applications may have to be repeated every two weeks depending upon the prevalence of flies.

Methoxychlor is the only one of these products that may be used for spraying cattle or cattle for slaughter.

5. PYRETHRIN MIXTURES—Pyrethrins mixed with pyrethrin activators may be used in place of Methoxychlor. These mixtures give knock-down of insects but have little residual effect. Nothing in this should be construed as recommending against the use of Pyrethrins for spraying cattle or dairy barns.

6. LINDANE—Another product recently released which may be used for spraying of dairy barns, lounging sheds, and milk houses is manufactured under the common name of Lindane. It is possible that this product may not be as easily obtainable as Methoxychlor, however, it is applied in a similar manner a Methoxychlor using a hand or power sprayer for spraying walls, ceilings, and so forth, (but not on cattle). This spray should not exceed ½% concentration, made by mixing one pound of 25% wettable powder to ten gallons of water.

7. Under no circumstances are oil solutions or emulsifiable concentrates of insecticides to be used on animals.

Mystery Farm Pictures in Central Missouri---

Whose farm is it?

Occupants of the above farm home may have wondered this spring about a plane buzzing low over their buildings. The picture explains it. The airplane pilot didn't know whose farm it was. The two of them just flew around the Central Missouri area served by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital newspapers and took pictures. They couldn't take pictures of all the farms but they got as many good shots as possible during the light time.

So about once a week hereafter, until the pictures run out, the Sedalia Democrat-Capital will print these farm home pictures as a news feature. The newspapers would like to know whose farm homes they are.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mahin are owners of the farm pictured last week on the farm page. It consists of 85 acres and is located 12 miles west of Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cardwell live on the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Mahin reside on a 300 acre farm nearby. Mr. Mahin has lived on the farm for the past 52 years. Mr. Mahin said he does general farming and is raising about 93 head of Black Angus cattle and a few hogs. Mrs. Mahin raises a few chickens and gardens in the summer.

They have four children, of whom three are married and the other, Miss Charlotte Mahin, is a teacher at Pattonville, Mo.

F. L. Schenk of LaMonte reported to the Sedalia Democrat news office to claim a free picture of his farm, which appeared in the "Farm Mystery" two weeks ago.

Mr. Schenk said the 260 acre farm, located about nine miles west of Sedalia on highway 50, was owned by his mother, Mrs. Little.

Elizabeth Schenk and by him. There are two houses located on the farm, equipped with electricity and bottled gas. Mrs. Schenk and her nephew, Frederick Hintz live in one of the houses and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Schenk live in the other.

Mr. Schenk said he was born on the farm 56 years ago and that his father died several years ago. The farmer said he did general farming and was now raising 17 head of Black Angus cattle and a bunch of hogs. His wife raises a few chickens and gardens a

June 22 Lamb Marketing Day

The State 4-H Club recently announced that the annual 4-H club lamb marketing day will be held in Kansas City on June 22. This 4-H marketing day provides 4-H club members an opportunity to market their lambs on a grade basis that usually results in higher prices paid to the 4-H'ers.

A full program is being planned for the 4-H members who bring lambs to Kansas City on that date.

This program includes a lamb grading contest, wool grading demonstration, a lunch by the courtesy of the Stockyards Co., a sound movie "Chisholm Trail," and discussions on lamb production and market demands and trends.

Although the 4-H ewe and lamb project is one of most practical livestock projects offered it has not kept pace with other livestock projects. It is generally agreed that sheep will return the money invested, dollar for dollar faster than any other livestock. It is the purpose of such events as the 4-H lamb marketing day to encourage more boys and girls to raise sheep as a livestock project. In return, the more lambs that are consigned by club members at this event, the more attractive the offer is to buyers.

Club members who plan to market their lambs in June should feed them liberally using a feeding creep to insure that the lambs get all they can eat. Troughs should be cleaned daily and the lambs will probably do better if fed twice daily the amount of feed they will clean up in 15 minutes. Cracked corn is sufficient feed until the lamb weighs approximately 60 lbs. Then corn, ten parts, and soybean meal, one part, or corn six parts and oats two parts, plus good leguminous hay or pasture will be the best fattening ration. The lambs should be on the best pasture available to insure rapid economical gain.

Meeting be Held On Roof Repair

The 4-H Metal Roofing Conservation Training school and Demonstration will be held on May 8 in Cooper county according to Bryan Phifer, Assistant County Agent. The place of the meeting will be announced later. The training school will be under the direction of Herman J. Hall, Extension Agricultural Engineer from the University of Missouri and Charles Matthews, Field Engineer for the American Zinc Institute.

During the demonstration a galvanized roof will be repaired, painted and grounded for lightning protection. This work will be done by 4-H club members from Cooper, Boone and Pettis counties during the morning training school session.

At 1:30 p. m. Mr. Hall and Mr. Matthews will conduct a metal roofing demonstration and general farm building meeting that is open to the public.

Metal roofing will be given special attention. The following main subjects will be discussed:

1. Selection of roofing.
2. Applying sheets.
3. Short cuts to better repairs and painting.
4. Grounding metal roofs for lightning protection.

All farmers and farm owners who plan to build or repair farm buildings are invited to attend. A discussion of general farm building problems will be an added feature of the meeting.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says insects are the greatest single cause of forest destruction.

Heffer Peril Belittled
WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Maryland farm worker sued his employer, a Washington resident, for damages. He said a heifer had stepped on his foot, injuring him, and that the animal was "dangerous."
District Judge Richmond B. Keech wouldn't go along with him. He acknowledged heifers might be excitable but not generally dangerous, like a tiger or rattlesnake. He dismissed the suit.

Cards Nipped Cubs 1-0 in a Pitcher's Duel

Redbirds Will Meet
Their Old Rivals
At Home Tonight

By the Associated Press

Three men up—three men down. That was the story for most of the 12 1/2 innings at Sportsman's park in St. Louis yesterday.

Harry Brecheen and Johnny Schmitz had a real mound battle going.

Then catcher Del Rice broke it up with a long blast into the right field pavillion to give the Cardinals a 1 to 0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the fourth hit off Schmitz who had walked two and struck out two. The ball hit the top of the concrete wall and bounded into the seats.

Brecheen gave up five hits, one walk and struck out eight.

Rice was the only Redbird to get past first base. In the fifth inning he reached third on a double and a long fly.

Opportunity Failed

The Cubs best chance was in the twelfth when Wayne Terwilliger reached third but Roy Smalley struck out to end the inning. Altogether seven Cubs reached base in four innings—the second, third, tenth and twelfth. They were on three singles, two doubles, a hit batsman and the walk, which was intentional.

It was sweet revenge for Brecheen who had lost a heart-breaking three-hit 2-0 game to the Cubs in Chicago April 21. It was the first start for Schmitz since opening day April 18 when he won from Cincinnati 9-6.

Rain put another strain on the St. Louis Browns schedule when it halted a planned doubleheader between the Browns and the Cleveland Indians at Cleveland. That made six Brownie games postponed so far this season.

The Cardinals are back in action tonight with the Brooklyn Dodgers as their guests.

Kentucky Derby This Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1—(P)—King Ranch has decided on a one-two punch for Saturday's Kentucky derby.

That was determined last night when trainer Max Hirsch arrived from New York and said Middle-ground would go in the derby trial tomorrow and On the Mark would wait for the derby.

Previously it was believed On the Mark would have to earn his way by a good showing in the trial.

On the Mark, who has yet to win a race, ran surprisingly well in the recent Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland, finishing third to Mr. Trouble and Oil Capital.

Middleground's appearance in the trial will give fans a chance to compare the west's hopefuls with the east's. For Ben Jones, Calumet farm trainer, is almost sure to send Theory out to meet Middleground in the trial.

There should be at least four other derby eligibles in the trial—including the Brookmeade entry of Greek ship and Sunglow, A. E. Reuben's Lot O'Luck and Wilburton farm's Trumpet King.

The current derby favorite—Your Host—breezed three-eighths of a mile yesterday in the rain in 37 seconds. His chances in the mud are unknown, for the thoroughbred, owned by Hollywood movie man Bill Goetz, has never raced on an off track.

Trainers generally are speculating about the weather prospects for derby day, but the weatherman has said it is too early to forecast. There have been showers here the past two days.

Injured Hurler Makes Comeback

CINCINNATI, May 1—(P)—Watch out, national league—Ewell Blackwell's pitching again!

The gangling hurler casually strolled to the mound yesterday for his first starting appearance since 1948. And—backed up beautifully by his Cincinnati Reds teammates—he spun a five-hit 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates against Mel Queen's two-hit pitching.

For Cincinnati's rooters, that was it—Blackie had found his stuff again. They've been waiting impatiently for the big guy to deliver as he did in 1947, when he set the league afire with 22 wins.

Since then he had been plagued by physical troubles. First his shoulder hurt and he won only seven while losing nine in 1948. Then recuperating from a kidney removal, he appeared only in relief roles last year, winning five, dropping five.

He couldn't have picked a better time to come through than yesterday. The win kept a Cincinnati comeback perkling.

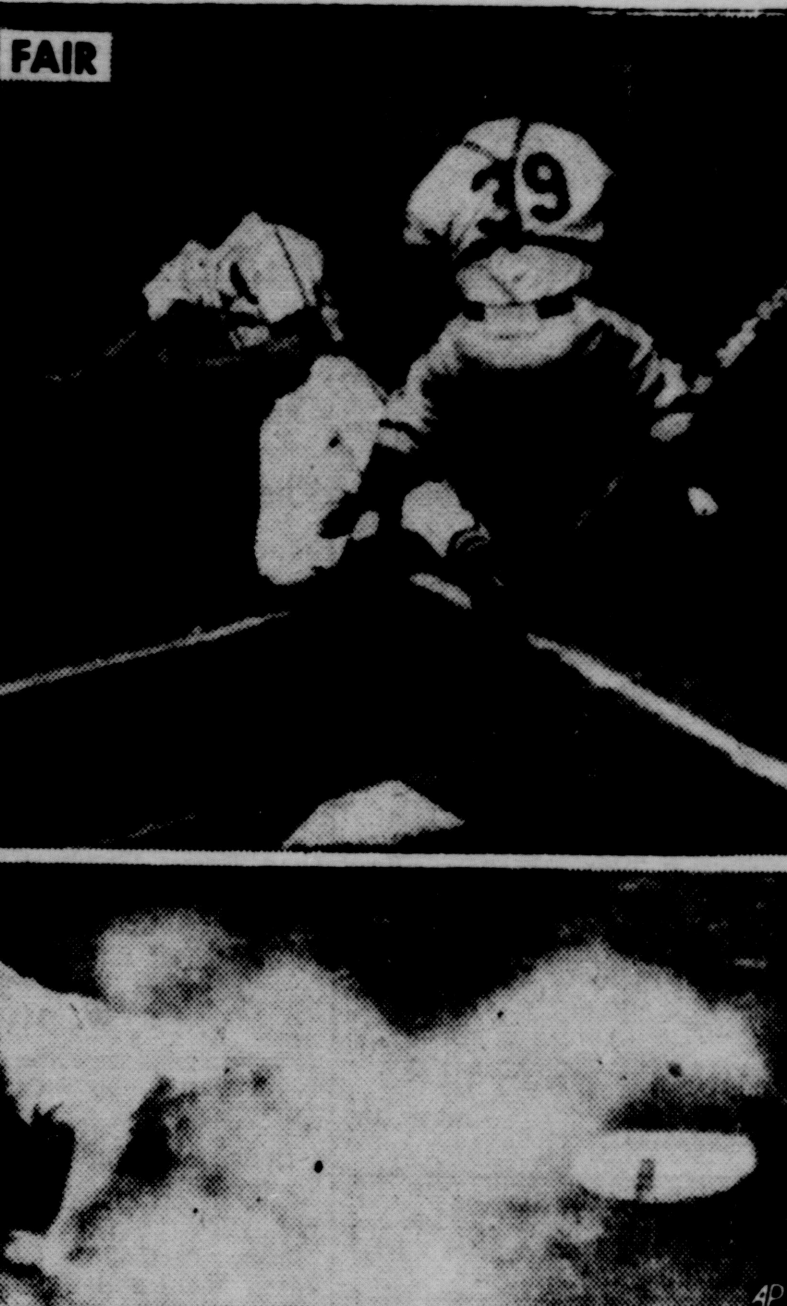

Cincinnati's had glumly watched the Reds lose their first six games. Then Herm Wehmeier suddenly broke through with a splendid two-hit job in Chicago Friday and the Reds nuzzle into the win column.

Back to the queen city came the club to set Cincinnati back on its delighted heels by taking three straight from the pirates. Those four-in-a-row make up the longest winning streak the team had enjoyed since early 1948.

FAIR—Brooklyn's Roy Campanella blocks Marty Marion of the Cardinals at home (photo at right). This play still is allowed. However, if the catcher blocks the plate and does not have the ball, the runner is permitted to go out of the baseline to reach home plate.

FOUL—Here Boston's Ted Williams goes out of his way attempting to break up a double play. The A's Pete Suder is in the act of throwing the batter out at first base. Had Williams bothered Suder's throw, the umpire could have called the batter out, too.

Three American Assn. Games Were Rained Out

By The Associated Press

Indianapolis whipped Louisville twice Sunday to vault into a tie with Minneapolis for the American Association lead. It was the only doubleheader played, the three others scheduled being rained out.

The Indians needed 13 innings in the longest game of the season thus far to down the Colonels 4-3 in the opener. They took the seven-inning nightcap 8-4. The Tribe has eight wins in 10 starts for .800 while Minneapolis has 4-1 for .800. Louisville is third with 7-4.

Columbus at Toledo, Kansas City at Milwaukee and Minneapolis at St. Paul were postponed. Columbus is scheduled at Toledo for a day game Monday while the other clubs tangle in night contests.

Today's schedule and probable pitchers:

Columbus (Krieger) at Toledo (Kapusinski) day.

Louisville (Alexander) at Indianapolis (Muir) night.

Kansas City (Ford) at Milwaukee (Estock) night.

St. Paul (Haugstad) at Minneapolis (Wilhelm) night.

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., May 1—(P)—Professional women golf stars headed for Pebble Beach, Calif., and the second leg of the 144-hole Weatherman Open transcontinental tournament today with Mrs. George (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias leading the field.

The former Olympic games athlete, who has made the sport a profitable business, won the first 36 holes of the four-city competition yesterday with a score of 158.

It gave her a two-stroke margin over Patty Berg, chunky Chicago entry. National Open champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta was third with 161.

Others battling for shares of the $17,000 total prize money and their 36-hole scores are Betty Jameson, San Antonio, 164; Mrs. Bettye Mims Danoff, Dallas, 169 and Alice Bauer, Midland, Tex., 171.

The troupe will be joined at Pebble Beach by the younger Bauer sister, 16-year old Marlene. She was unable to play here because of a throat infection. It will mark her pro debut.

The four tournaments each offer $3,000 prize money. Low scorer for the 144 holes will pocket an extra $5,000.

MacKenzie's Column

By Dewitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Former President Hoover's call for a scrapping of the present United Nations set-up, and the creation of another peace organization from which the Communist nations would be barred, is startling but wholly understandable.

It is of course based on the certainty—to which this column long ago called attention—that the U.N. never can succeed so long as it remains a house divided against itself. Communism and democracy are diametrically opposed on all points. There is no possibility of compromise between them.

Mr. Hoover made his sweeping proposal in an address before a Bureau of Advertising banquet ending the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York. He put the proposition like this:

Hoover's Suggestion
"I suggest that the United Nations should be reorganized without the Communist nations in it. If that is impractical, then a definite new united front should be organized of those peoples who disavow Communism, who stand for morals and religion, and who love freedom."

Hoover declared that the "new united front" he advocates is nothing like "a proposed extension of a military alliance," and added:

"It is a proposal based solely upon moral, spiritual and defense foundations."

"What the world needs today is a definite, concrete mobilization of the nations who believe in God against this tide of Russian agnosticism."

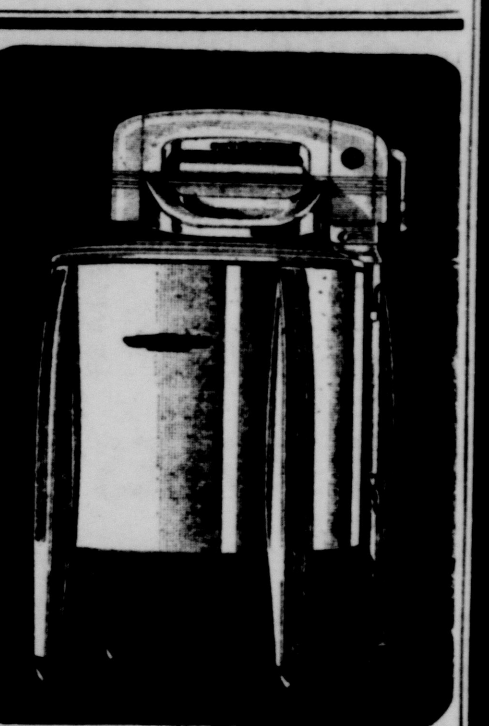

Comprises 59 Countries

The U.N. comprises 59 countries. Of these the Soviet bloc claims five, with untamed Yugoslavia sometimes making a sixth. Russia, supported by this tiny minority but armed with the all-powerful veto power in the security council, has persistently stymied most of the efforts of the majority. Meantime the Communist bloc has used the U.N. as an unparalleled sounding-board for red propaganda.

The formation of the U.N. on home bases, to put into operation the theories they have learned. Later, after a period of additional service, many of them will be selected to attend other schools in the Air University system.

its present lines was logical at the time of its creation. The ideal was a brotherhood of all nations. However, more than four years of bitter experience have demonstrated this:

Oil and Water Don't Mix
You can pour oil and water into a bottle, and shake the bottle till hades freezes over—and the two still won't have mixed.

Present day Communism isn't the largely beneficent ideology of the world knew generations ago. Then it was a plan for communities to share and share alike. Today we are dealing with a Bolshevism which calls for the overthrow of all democracies and the establishment of totalitarian governments whose sovereignty rests in Moscow.

Old time Communism might have lived side-by-side with other ideologies. The current brand of Communism cannot.

The ideal of "one world" cannot be achieved under these circumstances. We are forced to recognize that, for the present, there must be "two worlds." And by that token there must be two United Nations—one comprising the democracies and the other the Communist states. Of his proposed new U.N., Mr. Hoover says:

"It may be that the non-Communist world is not willing to take such a vital stand. At least it would clarify what we have to do. The test I propose is the logical and practical method of total diplomacy. It would make diplomacy dynamic and lessen the dangers of the American people."

Call For County Inquiry

Governor Sends Telegram to Kansas City Judge; Drawing Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, May 1—(P)—Senator Tobey (R-N.H.) said today the American Telephone and Telegraph Company hasn't "done a damn thing" to stop big-time gamblers from conducting business by long distance telephone.

But the company's attorney, S. Whitney Landon, denied the accusation and said telephone companies do not have the responsibility of policing the gambling world.

Furthermore, he said, it would be "dangerous" for a telephone company "to assume the function of law enforcement."

Landon said the A. T. and T. has denied private line service to gamblers and bookmakers and is cooperating in every way possible with local law enforcement agencies to halt illegal use of telephones.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 1—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith called today for Jackson county grand jury to investigate Kansas City racketeering uncovered by a federal grand jury.

He sent a telegram to Circuit Judge Ray G. Cowan, presiding judge of the Jackson county circuit court, asking him to set the state's legal machinery in motion.

The governor urged that the county grand jury "investigate all law violations with special emphasis on gambling rackets and state income tax evasions."

Smith told his news conference he would also direct Attorney General J. E. Taylor, the State Highway Patrol and other law enforcement agencies to cooperate in the investigation.

Phoned Judge Duncan

Taylor already had telegraphed Federal District Judge Richard M. Duncan, asking that evidence dug up by the federal grand jury be turned over to him. He said he would cooperate with local law enforcement officials and any state grand jury to be called.

The governor and the attorney general acted on the basis of a federal grand jury report, released Saturday, that gambling activities in Kansas City amounted to more than $34,000,000 annually.

Smith told newsmen he was convinced "practically everything referred to" by the grand jury happened before he took office in January, 1949.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1—(P)—Here is the text of Gov. Forrest Smith's telegram today urging that a grand jury be called to investigate racketeering in Kansas City:

"Sunday's press carried a report from the federal grand jury stating it had uncovered evidence of many violations of state laws of Missouri. The report further states that gambling rackets have reached the astounding figure of millions of dollars annually.

"The press further reports the evidence and information collected by the federal grand jury of violations of Missouri laws will be available to a state grand jury. I am advised that most of this enormous gambling racket existed in the years 1942 to 1948 inclusive.

"To protect Missouri against the statute of limitations and to ferret out any such violations, if they still exist today, I am most earnestly urging you to call a grand jury immediately to thoroughly investigate all law violations with special emphasis on gambling rackets and state income tax evasions.

"Forrest Smith, Governor."

He said Chief of Police Henry W. Johnson of Kansas City was preparing a report showing that "none of those places are running now or have been running for over two years." The governor and Johnson conferred by telephone yesterday.

Reorganizing Police Board
The governor is in the midst of reorganizing the Kansas City police board, the state agency that runs the police department there. One police commissioner has been replaced, a second has resigned and two others—Hampton S. Chambliss and R. Robert Cohn—have announced they will not resign.

They said Smith would have to oust them if he wants them to quit. The governor said he had no statement on the police board situation. He declined to say (Please turn to page 6, col. 6)

Expansion of Dollar Volume In This County

Preliminary Figures Released By Government

Retail, wholesale, and service establishments located in Pettis County, Missouri, showed a substantial expansion in dollar volume of trade from 1939 to 1948 according to preliminary figures from the 1948 Census of Business released today by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Retail sales in the county during 1948 aggregated $29.3 million, an increase of 241 percent over the $8.6 million in 1939, when the preceding Census of Business was taken. Wholesale sales in the county reached a total of $15.8 million in 1948 as compared with $4.7 million in 1939. The service trades included in the Census of Business recorded receipts totaling $1.9 million in 1948 compared with $0.4 million in 1939.

Employment Up
Employment in the county also rose over the 9-year period between 1939 and 1948 for the above trades. Establishments in these trades reported a combined total of 2,393 paid employees for the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1948. This compared with a total of 1,558 employees reported for the week of November 15, 1939.

These preliminary figures have been derived from a Census report on Pettis County, Missouri, which also includes data for the city of Sedalia. Final figures superseding the preliminary data for Pettis County, will be included in a Bulletin for the State of Missouri to be issued in several months. Similar data will be made available this year in preliminary and final form for each of the counties and States. A single copy of the preliminary release for Pettis County as well as an order blank for other area releases may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C.

More and More Businessmen Are Betting on Good Days

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, May 1—(P)—More and more business men are betting on good days ahead. Executives are backing their bets with forward orders. Many who were buying on a 30 to 60 day basis are switching over to 60 to 90 day buying.

This inventory boom is in direct contrast to the inventory recession which the same businessmen were staging just a year ago. Then industry all the way from the factory to the store, was busy cutting back stocks of goods and raw materials on hand.

During the year corporate inventories dropped by $4.7 billion to $43.8 billion. Now they appear to be on their way up again. But production and sales are on the way up, too. And some companies are producing at a much faster

Rayburn Presents Him With New Speaking Stand

By Ernest B. Vaccaro
WASHINGTON, May 1—(P)—President Truman went over legislative plans with his congressional leaders today preparatory to taking off Monday in a 6,400-mile stumping tour.

He conferred at the White House with Speaker Rayburn (Tex.), Senate majority leader Lucas (Ill.), and House majority leader McCormack (Mass.).

Rayburn took the president a new adjustable speaking stand which he said might be helpful to the chief executive on his trip. It is so made, Rayburn said, that it can be brought closer to the president's eyes and not require him to stoop to read the text of his addresses.

Rayburn said the progress of the appropriation bill was discussed. He predicted House passage by next week. He said the appropriations bill will be followed by consideration of some of the reorganization proposals.

"And we've got to get out a road authorization bill before June 30 as well as a tax bill," Rayburn commented.

Expects Tax Action Soon
He said he expects action on taxes "pretty soon" after the ways and means committee finishes its hearings.

Lucas predicted passage of an expanded social security bill before adjournment.

The group talked over politics "in a general way" according to Rayburn.

The president is depending on eight prepared speeches and any number of honey-trackside chats" on his cross-section tour to bolster his "fair deal."

To meet this expected barrage, the Republicans laid plans for calling up their own big guns whenever Mr. Truman speaks out. He starts for the west next Sunday on a 6,400-mile stumping tour carrying him into 16 states.

Ready to Reply
Such Republicans as Senator Taft of Ohio, Rep. Martin of Pennsylvania, Senator Wherry of Nebraska and National Chairman Guy Gabrielson are expected to be ready to reply on any issues Mr. Truman raises along the route.

"This is a fight and we're going to be in it every minute," said Senator Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee.

The presidential tour is the first of a series of cross-country trips Mr. Truman will make before the voting in November. It will be built around the eight prepared speeches—one a day—starting Monday, May 8 at Lincoln, Neb.

However, he will make dozens of other talks from the rear platform of his bulletproof private car.

Chatty Appeals
These chatty, neighborly appeals to the voters featured his 31,500-mile campaign for the presidency in 1948.

The president's itinerary, made public last night, made no attempt to list the towns at which he plans to make platform appearances.

However, one of his top aides told reporters that "You may be sure that the president will be prepared to step out and talk at almost any town where his train stops."

In addition to the Lincoln speech, the president plans prepared talks at Casper, Wyo., May 9; Pendleton, Ore., May 10; Grand Coulee Dam, Wash., May 11; Butte, Mont., May 12; Fargo, N. D. May 13; Madison, Wis., May 14, and Chicago May 15.

The Weather

Partly cloudy this afternoon, highest near 60. In the night showers beginning tonight and continuing Tuesday. Low tonight near 45. High Tues. in 60s.

Temperature 7 a. m. 40 degrees; 2 p. m. 53 degrees. Rainfall Saturday night: .05 inch. Lake of the Ozarks: 61; no change.

Thought for Today

Rocking Chair Rocks Without Anyone in it

MUSCATINE, Ia May 1—(P)—The Floyd Holladays have decided that they'll probably have to sell their restless rocking chair to get any place.

More than a thousand curious persons swarmed into the Holladay home yesterday to view the unorthodox platform rocker which rocks even though no one is in it.

Holladay said he's fond of the old chair but now he thinks he'll sell it if the price is right.

The week-end was a perpetual impromptu open house. Many visitors came away mystified. Others had a variety of explanations.

Morton Gailey, Muscatine high school science instructor, noted that the chair is "very delicately balanced." He said vibrations from passing cars, footsteps and slamming doors may be causing the chair to rock gently.

Bomber Falls Into Tree, Six Persons Killed

Drops Between Houses, One is Entirely Destroyed

LEBANON, Ill., May 1—(P)—A blazing air force B-25 bomber crashed into a tree between two houses shortly after noon yesterday, killing the plane's six occupants.

One home, that of Frank H. Wolf, was destroyed. Luckily, his wife and three children were away fishing. The house of Walter Bridges was damaged.

Bridges was sitting in his kitchen when debris showered past his head. He was injured slightly. A neighbor, Mrs. Henry Christ was emptying garbage in the alley behind the houses. She was cut on the leg.

Scott Air Base officials identified those on the plane as Col. Richmond A. Livingstone, Pawtucket, R. I., the pilot; Maj. Donald H. Bruner, Coral Gables, Fla.; Lt. Richard L. Watson, Little Rock, Ark.; Staff Sgt. Ralph H. Wallace, Greenville, Tex.; Staff Sgt. James A. Strum, Nashville, N. C.; and Tech. Sgt. William I. Bull, Ozan, Ark.

Wreckage Scattered

Wreckage was scattered over a wide area and several other homes in the block were damaged slightly.

Witnesses told of the plane coming in low over the city as the motors failed. Wilber Toles, who was working on a farm just outside town, said there was "a big noise and flames shot out."

The motors came on again, then went off as the plane headed for the ground, he added.

Air Force officers said the plane was from the Perrin air base at Waco, Tex., and had just taken off from Scott Air Base after an overnight stop on a cross country flight.

Weather More Like Winter

By The Associated Press

The chilly weather—more like winter than spring—is on the way out of the north central states.

Temperatures were expected to start climbing today to seasonal normals. Another setback is in prospect for tonight but the rise will begin again tomorrow, and the Chicago weather bureau adds that spring then might be here to stay.

Light snow was falling this morning in extreme northern Minnesota while upper Michigan and northern Wisconsin had a mixture of snow and drizzle. Forecaster J. Badner said, however, snow at this time of year is not too unusual in that area.

Rain areas included northern Alabama and Georgia northeastward to the middle Atlantic states, the southern New England states, some parts of the central plains, and the Pacific northwest.

Philip, S. D., had the lowest temperature among early weather reports, a subfreezing 18. Old Town, Me., had a low of 30 degrees. Mild weather prevailed generally over the southern half of the nation.

Teacher Slugged, Robbed

KANSAS CITY, May 1—(P)—A 33-year-old high school teacher was treated at a hospital yesterday for injuries received when she was slugged and robbed by a prowler in her apartment, police said.

Officers said Miss Naomi C. Simpson was awakened by the prowler and slugged when she screamed. The prowler fled with $18.

Mrs. May Kennedy McCord is The State Mother of 1950

MOBERLY, Mo., May 1—(P)—Mrs. May Kennedy McCord, Springfield writer, radio commentator, clubwoman and church worker, is the Missouri State Mother of 1950.

Selection of Mrs. McCord, 717 North Jefferson street, Springfield, was disclosed today by Mrs. W. D. Thompson, state chairman of the American Mothers committee, Golden Rule Foundation, New York.

The 68-year-old Carthage, Mo. native was the unanimous choice of the state committee.

Mrs. McCord, a widow, is the mother of two sons and a daughter, all of whom make their homes in Springfield. They are Leslie McCord, 37, state excise officer; Mrs. Maud Eva Janss, 42, former high school languages instructor who now is a housewife; and Charles McCord, 44, manager of a lumber concern.

The Missouri Mother of 1950 has a weekly radio program broadcast by a Springfield station which features her down-to-earth philosophy of living, keen sense of humor and vocal and instrumental abilities. She plays several musical instruments.

Mrs. McCord is an accepted authority on Ozark folklore and has been listed in "Who's Who." One hundred of her Ozark ballad recordings are filed in the Library of Congress.

State Running Cars, Busses

KANSAS CITY, May 1—(P)—Missouri's Gov. Forrest Smith was in charge of the Kansas City Public Service company today and street cars and busses were operating as usual.

The governor took over operation of the company at 11 o'clock last night under the King-Thompson Utility Act. Union employees of the company had voted to go on strike at midnight. The King-Thompson Act prohibits strikes on public utilities.

Smith's action was the first seizure in Missouri since the act became law Sept. 10, 1947.

The union had called a strike rather than accept a five cent per hour wage decrease the company proposed to place in effect.

The chairman of the state mediation board, Vance Julian of Clinton, was named by the governor to take charge of the operation.

Company officials and employees continued normal operations. No ceremony accompanied the seizure.

Vote To Cut Excise Tax

WASHINGTON, May 1—(P)—The house ways and means committee voted today to cut the excise tax of alcohol used for medicinal purposes from $3 to $2 a gallon.

This would amount to an estimated $2,300,000 loss in government revenue yearly and raise the total excise tax cuts approved by the committee to about $970,000,000.

Today's action does not disturb the $9 a gallon general excise on drinking whisky, which yields about $1,470,000,000 annually.

Mock May Day Observance in Wisconsin Town, Many Assist

By Arthur Bystrom

MOSINEE, Wis., May 1—(P)—The pajama-clad mayor was dragged into the snowy street and the chief of police was "executed" today as a mock May day observance clamped an iron hand over this paper mill community at sunrise.

Police Chief Caryl Gennis was theoretically shot down in his headquarters for failure to turn over his officers to the Reds. Leader of the flying squad which took over the police station was Benjamin Gitlow, who once was made out of the top of a block, poster proclamation Communist party in the United States.

Real party members were not in evidence as the 2,200 residents of Mosinee began their one-day trial of life under Soviet rule. However, copies of the Daily Worker and pamphlets denouncing the American Legion sponsored demonstration to homes some time Saturday night.

The surprise element apparently was maintained even for city officials.

Students Are Back in Their Classrooms

NEW YORK, May 1—(P)—Students tooped peacefully back to classrooms today, following a week in which thousands of them had joined in riotous demonstrations.

Today was the first school day that no disorders were reported since last Tuesday, when student revolts broke out in a demand for higher teacher pay and restoration of extra-curricular activities.

More than 100 mounted and foot patrolmen guarded the city hall area—center of last week's demonstrations—but no gatherings of students were reported there.

However, seven women, who described themselves as mothers from Brooklyn's Brownsville section tried to visit Mayor William O'Dwyer to protest official handling of last week's disorders.

Accuse Brutality
The women, who would not give their names, accused police of "brutality and police state methods—with horsemen pushing children aside."

They were turned away at city hall steps when they said they did not have an appointment with the mayor.

The student demonstrations—which at the peak included some 23,000 participants—stemmed from the failure of teachers to get a requested $650 annual pay raise, and their subsequent refusal to supervise after-school functions. This resulted in a shutdown of many extra-curricular student activities, such as dances, clubs, and some sports.

The new budget raises teacher salaries $250 a year.

One Church Goer

CLAYHANGER, Eng., May 1—(P)—The Rev. Arthur Tulk Cooke held his regular Sunday service in 800-year-old Clayhanger church yesterday.

It was a single worshipper. There was a single worshipper, 72-year-old Mrs. Hannah Huxtable.

The Rev. Cooke explained that the farmers in the district just can't seem to get to church on Sundays because of staff shortages and "hardly anyone takes an interest in the church."

"Often I have been the only person present in church," he said. "This has been going on for years."

One of the coordinated assault teams of six armed men each dragged protesting Mayor Ralph E. Kronenwetter from his bed into the snowy street. He faced Joseph Jack Koenig, the communist-for-the-day, who told the snoring mayor he was an "enemy of the world."

Kronenwetter, his city hall associates and other civic leaders were allowed to dress, then were escorted off to a barred wire enclosure.

While the first arrests were made, other assault teams threw the real secretary-general of the union from blocks, posted proclamation Communist party in the United States.

The early arrests lost some of their impressiveness when newsreel, radio men and news photographers insisted that the teams "run through it again." Mayor Kronenwetter, in robe and slippers, hustled out his front door three times for photographs. Chief Gennis's execution followed the same pattern.

Observe May Day In Berlin

Calm Police Action Prevents Any Major Violence; Minor Fights Are Staged

By Thomas A. Reedy and Daniel De Luce

BERLIN, May 1—(P)—More than a million Berliners massed near the East-West borders in this nerve center of the cold war today in rival May day demonstrations, but calm police action on both sides prevented major violence.

In this shattered city where East meets West across piles of rubble, swirling crowds estimated to number at least 500,000 on each side staged the biggest May day demonstration in Berlin's history.

Stones flew and there were some minor fights, but police dispersed the unruly elements in time to prevent rioting.

On the Communist side of the Brandenburg gate—on Unter Den Linden, where Hitler's legions once marched—Berlins once again heard the thunder of marching feet in regimented unison. The Communists were staging a Moscow-like six-hour parade featuring the newly trained Soviet zone police army. It looked like a dress rehearsal for the forthcoming Whitsuntide demonstrations of May 28 in which some fear the Communists may try to take over all Berlin.

BELGRADE, May 1—(P)—Russia got a ribbing in the May Day parade here today.

One cartoon carried by the paraders depicted Russia as the captain of a boat on the Danube with the pro-Communist satellite countries at the oars. The captain urged the oarsmen to pull harder while he lolled back comfortably at the tiller.

There were other floats depicting the rift between Marshal Tito and the Soviet-led Cominform. They drew jeers and laughter from the crowds.

The Other Side

On the other side of the gate, a multitude of at least a half million—Berlin's anti-Communist mayor said there were 750,000—heard Western German speakers blast Russia and the Communists.

Between these two opposing multitudes were thousands of East and West sector German police lined up along the sector borders, backed on the Western side by thousands of Allied occupation troops alerted for trouble, and guided by reconnaissance planes and helicopters.

It was apparent that both police forces were trying to make May day—international labor day of the Socialists since 1889—pass without a head-on collision and bloodshed.

We Will Stay In Berlin

-Secretary Acheson

When Secretary Acheson definitely announced that the Western Allies would stand their ground in West Berlin in the face of a threatened May invasion of 500,000 Communist German youths from the Soviet sector, he knew that our forces in Berlin are prepared for trouble. Strong U. S. troop reinforcements, including tanks, have been moved into Berlin. For the past month, U. S. troops, military police and West German police have been mapping strategy, practicing riot-control and street-fighting. Pictures here show scenes during a recent 24-hour exercise to repel a mythical Communist "invasion." (Photos by NEA-Acme staff correspondents Al Cocking and Joe Schuppe.)

Hal Boyle COLUMN

By Hal Boyle

(P)—Dreams come true in rare ways.

All his life Benny Bufano, a 49-year-old gnome-like artist who is one of San Francisco's best known characters, had dreamed a great dream. He wanted to create a masterpiece of art that would help bring peace into the world.

Well, it's done now—an 18-ton, three-panel series of mosaics. And where does it hang—in the Metropolitan Museum of Art? No. It hangs in a new $500,000 cafeteria at the foot of Powell street, where tourists flock to ride the old-fashioned cable cars.

Benny originally wanted his opus to go to the United Nations. But the money to execute it—$35,000 to $40,000—was advanced by David Moar, a former busboy who worked himself up to head of a multi-million dollar restaurant chain. So the artist is reconciled to the cafeteria setting here for his mosaic.

Just Patted Him on Back

"People always patted me on the back, but never put the money on the line," he said. "Mr. Moar did."

The three mosaics carry out a theme of universal unity. This is symbolized in the gigantic figure of a saintly child with four eyes and a face of three colors—white, black and yellow. This represents a blending of world races. And the child has a zipper in its robe.

"I chose the child as a symbol, because it is only through the innocence of childhood that we can gain true peace," said Benny. "The zipper is to show it's a modern idea," volunteered Moar,

who is beginning to understand the mosaic himself.

Big Jigsaw Puzzle

Bufano spent more than four months in St. Louis, New York, and Italy assembling the 16-foot-high panels.

"It's the biggest jigsaw puzzle you ever saw—1,000,000 pieces of stone in it," said Moar, admiringly. "There were 1,500,000 pieces," said Benny. "The others I threw away."

Moar is confident the huge mosaic, set in a base of stainless steel, will help sell tons of chicken a la king.

"I can see it is already influencing the patrons," he said. One woman, who obviously knew something about art, cried when she saw it.

Lived In Poverty

Bufano, a small, mousehaired, blue-eyed man with a strangely wistful quality, is a genuine artist who has lived in poverty most of his life.

"I'm really a sculptor," he said, "and I originated a process for working in stainless steel."

Benny is a mascot of the San Francisco Press club. Some years ago a group of members decided to charter a $50,000 corporation to finance his art. The art was to be given "to humanity."

"That was fine," said Benny. "But so far I haven't got a cent from them to work with." Which only proves newspapermen are about as businesslike as artists. They never got beyond the charter.

Benny has lifelong free sleeping quarters at the press club, and completion of the mosaic solved another big problem—food. Part of his commission was a gold life pass to the cafeteria.

Disciplines Himself

"But every week I go 30 to 40 hours without food," said Bufano.

MP's with fixed bayonets form a "platoon skirmish line" used to clear streets during rioting.

West sector police practice rounding up rioters in a very realistic exercise.

"I do it just for discipline—an artist must discipline himself. I learned this from Gandhi. I lived with him once for three months."

Benny has a vision deeper than many of those who dismiss him as only a impractical Bohemian.

"As men grow older, they get too many complexes," he said. "The diplomat's know what's wrong, but their habits won't let them do what's right. The singleness of purpose that will bring world peace can come only from those who have kept the fresh wisdom of children."

Closing Day Activities at High Point

For the past several weeks in April, the pupils and teachers of High Point school have enjoyed many last day of school activities. Many parents treated the children with such things as ice cream and soda pop. Fender, Mrs. Noah Jordan, and Miss Ed. Mehl as assistant hostesses, in addition to the other treats.

At 6:30 p.m., Friday, April 21, the patrons enjoyed a contributive basket supper. Following the supper, the new P.T.A. president, Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, was introduced by the out-going president, Miss Frank Moore. Mrs. Anderson, in turn, presented the lower room teacher, Mrs. E. L. Jones, and the upper room teacher, Miss Mary Sue Monsees, each with a gift from the P.T.A. As a farewell gift to Mrs. Edward L. Ex-Missionary Congressman Judd Gives McCarthy Good Advice

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Wisconsin's "Huey Long" got an earful of advice the other day from one of his informants, GOP Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota, a former China missionary and an outspoken friend of the China lobby.

Judd gave McCarthy the names of some whom the China lobby had branded as Communists, but warned: "Joe, I'll be glad to give you what I've got, but I don't have any proof. If I had any proof, I would have tried to convict them myself."

The Congressman Judd further urged: "You've got to stop making so many speeches and extravagant charges, Joe. A judge doesn't issue verdicts until he has heard the witnesses. Quit issuing verdicts until the witnesses have been on."

"You Marines think any beach can be taken," added the Minnesota Congressman. "You think all you've got to do is just wade in."

Senator McCarthy hasn't been taking his Republican colleague's advice.

Behind John Maragon

The real story of the John Maragon conviction is not about the ex-Kansas City bootblack who became the friend of the President and now goes to jail, but about Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan who remained in the background and doesn't go to jail. Working together they raised campaign contributions, influenced Greek policies, and thwarted building regulations to rebuild race tracks.

None of this violated any laws, but a lot of it violated the sense of propriety of the American people.

John Maragon, once cocky and confident, is now a pathetic figure. A few short years ago he was able to demote generals, get airplane priorities to Europe, escape a conviction for smuggling, ride on the President's special trains and stand beside Mr. Truman as he reviewed the fleet.

So the most interesting question about the Maragon conviction is whether the Senate committee will now probe further into the Maragon-Vaughan-White House axis.

For that axis, right up until the time Maragon went to trial, appeared to continue.

Even last month, when Maragon was under indictment he pulled powerful wires inside the Truman administration—powerful enough to cause the FBI to work all night investigating a crackpot rumor that a member of my staff had evaded the draft during the war. That type of investigation, five years after the war is over, is not made by a busy FBI unless on orders from the top. Yet, after a tip from Maragon, the FBI worked all night to finish the probe, so anxious was the White House to "get the goods" on this columnist.

The rumor turned out to be pure bunk. There is no draftdodger on my staff.

Maragon's Power

Also illustrative of Maragon's power was his demand three years ago that I be indicted for criminal libel. The District of Columbia criminal libel statute has not been enforced for 75 years. But after I reported that Maragon had pled guilty to illegally transporting liquor in 1920, both he and General Vaughan called the Justice department to demand my criminal prosecution.

The White House reinforced Vaughan's demand—and so vigorously that the FBI took out precious time for a thorough investigation—which in the end proved that Maragon had been guilty of transporting liquor. So no criminal libel case could be brought.

Last summer, Maragon went to Senator Mundt of South Dakota, demanded that he be permitted to testify before the committee in answer to a charge in this column that he was not a "five percent" but a "fifty percent."

The committee promptly called him, and here is part of the testimony: "In 1946 I went to work seven months because of Drew Pearson. . . . I was terminated, Senator, because Drew Pearson started writing. . . . These past two years have been the worst in my life because of this commmentator. . . . On July 20 he accused me—said I am not only a five percent but a fifty percent. I think it is only fair that the committee summon this gentleman here. . . ."

Last week Maragon was more philosophical. "If I hadn't got so mad at Drew Pearson about all this," he told newsmen, "I wouldn'ta got in all this trouble."

There is no question that John Maragon lied. But I for one hate to see him go to jail, because he was only an inconsequential pawn in a very fast-moving, very big game where the stakes were skyhigh and the players knew what it was all about. Someday, perhaps, the rest of the Maragon story will come out.

Trust-Buster Truman

President Truman had a significant talk with Chairman Celler of the House Judiciary during which he urged Celler to continue his bangup job exposing monopolies. The President seemed particularly gleeful about the New Yorker's probe of the steel trust.

"Keep it up," urged Truman. "You're doing a great job for the country and, incidentally, providing me with some red meat for campaign speeches. I'll tell my staff to be on the lookout for any good material that you dig up."

"Thanks, but I may need more money to continue our investigation," replied Celler.

"Let me know and I'll see that you get the money," Truman promised. "Now that the American people have discovered your efforts to help little business, they won't permit any interference."

"Listen, Mr. President, I've only started," said Celler. "My committee also plans to turn the searchlight on monopoly in air transportation, newsprint, the big distilleries and soap interests."

"Go to it," Truman enthused. "You're right down my alley. I was something of a trust-buster myself when I was a member of the Senate."

The Readers Write

Mrs. H. O. Thompson
603 East Eleventh Street

"In answer to 'Respect for Flowers,' in Readers Write column, in Sunday's Democrat, I would like to say, I too can readily understand how the lady felt about the bulbs being taken from the grave of her little child.

"But, I cannot sympathize with the lady who said she has a similar situation, but hers was dogs and children bothering her. There is no comparison in the two cases. A thief who sneaks up and steals from the dead is the very lowest animal living; and if caught, capital punishment is not too severe.

"All the lady needs to do to protect her lovely flowers from such a nuisance as children and dogs is to build a fence around her. Just such fussy people is what makes it hard on the dogs and kids around town. How would this lady feel I wonder, if for some reason she could not help herself, someone tied her up by the neck, or penned her up in a 2x4 pen without water, food or maybe shelter.

"I live in one of Sedalia's finest homes. My hobby is flowers, dogs and children. The just now I have neither. But no part of my yard is fenced. I do have several dog friends drop by around regular hours for a little food, and the neighbors children play on my walks with their bikes and wagons and dummies. I am two blocks from the high school, so the boys and girls go by my place several times a day. Occasionally, yes they step over on the yard, but they don't destroy the flowers or shrubs.

"As for the dogs running around (without license) she might have to prove that, for I owned a fine little dog for ten years and carried the license in my pocket book. Any one who loves a dog well enough to keep him will buy a license for it. Many dog owners detest keeping their dogs tied or penned up, and punished all summer just to please a few that could build a fence around their gardens and flowers.

"If this lady with nothing else to do but sit at home and fuss about little children and dogs, would get out and take a survey of the city and see all the poor dogs tied or penned up without water, food or shelter, just to please folks like herself, maybe she would go back home and decide her conditions weren't so bad after all.

"Yes, sure we want Sedalia to be a beautiful city; but my way of making our city beautiful is to have less cranks, more dogs, more happy kids, and better neighbors."

Sen. McCarthy Couldn't Use Dodging Tactics in Law Court

By Bruce Blossat

A university scholar once said: "The two dumbest lawyers trying a case in court will stick to the main points of an argument better than two eminent philosophers debating an issue in a public forum."

The idea is that the lawyers just can't help themselves. The laws of evidence and rules of legal procedure compel them to meet head on and to keep the issue tightly joined. If they don't, an alert judge will promptly set them back on the track.

No matter how wise the debaters, it's difficult outside a courtroom. There's a natural tendency always to deal with an issue in a way most to your own advantage; and often that means avoiding a direct response to your opponent's challenge.

Though an honest debater may not intend it and may hardly be aware of it, he will frequently answer questions at a tangent. He may find himself replying by raising questions of his own or by making counter-charges.

In politics, this sort of thing, of course, is far from accidental. It is a deliberate technique, highly refined and heavily relied upon by everyone from our presidential candidates down to the party hacks.

For example, if one candidate makes a dramatic charge about unemployment being caused by his opponent's policies, the latter will probably not answer the specific complaints. Instead he'll make statements of his own about the situation—which will be designed to sound like fitting answers but really won't be.

In this day and age words are flung about so recklessly that the poor citizen is hard put to figure where the truth lies. Too few people seem concerned about keeping the debaters on the track, or reminding the public when they're off it.

It might be well to point out here that Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, in his fishing expedition for Communists in the State Department, spends very little time on the original track he started down. He is extremely skillful at dodging questions, at throwing out his own queries at an impressive rate and at making bold new charges to keep the situation turbulent.

McCarthy initially claimed there are 57 card-carrying Communists in the department. He has changed this figure often (it's now around 100) but thus far has brought no convincing proof in any case.

This should never be lost sight of in any appraisal of him. The fact that Louis Budenz, former editor of the Communist Daily Worker, provided strong hearsay evidence regarding the alleged Red affiliations of Owen Lattimore does not substantiate McCarthy. Lattimore has been a consultant to the State Department but doesn't work for it and never has.

It would be highly revealing if McCarthy were forced to present his "evidence" in a court of law. There the rules of procedure would strip away his technique of diversion and confusion, and the public could see plainly what his case adds up to.

LOOK BEYOND SELF TO GOD

You must linger upon this thought of seeing yourself in God, for it needs correction. (7) Don't look too long at this self in God—look at God. A great many cults center upon self-cultivation and leave behind a multitude of wistful, but frustrated people, lifted for a moment, and limping for a lifetime. Why? You dare not center on yourself, for, if you do, as sure as fate you will lose yourself. "Whoever will save his life"—centering on his life, loving it even for purposes of cultivating it—will lose it.

As long as Peter looked at himself or the waves around him, he started sinking. Only as he looked at Jesus, did he walk firmly on the waters. Look at yourself, or at others, and you will sink; look at Christ, and you can walk on anything. As someone has suggested: "Say to yourself, 'Salivate,' and the probabilities are that no water will come into your mouth; on the contrary, it will probably dry up. But think of a savory dish, and without your saying anything the water will flow." You must think, not of yourself even to cultivate yourself; but think of Christ, and the self will be cultivated. Glance at yourself in God, but gaze at God.

This law of losing one's life to find it runs through everything. Jesus said, "Consider the lilies, how they grow." How do they grow? By being self-conscious, and fussily trying to grow and to look beautiful? No; they look at the sun, and in their sun-centeredness they themselves grow beautiful. Beauty cults and classes to teach one charm lose themselves, for they break themselves upon this law of saving one's life and losing it. The beauty cults end in painted dolls, and the charm classes lose their charm. The only beautiful people are people who lose themselves in a great Cause; and they grow beautiful as they continually gaze at Beauty. The only charming people are people who charm you to great ends; and they themselves become charming as the lose themselves in you and in others: "The Little Sister of the illumined face," and Penelope to whom as he walked the streets a beggar cried, "Oh, you with Heaven in your face!"

O God, I dare not gaze on myself, even in Thee. But I do gaze on Thee and find myself. In Thee I gaze and grow—in myself I cultivate and deteriorate. So now my eye is getting in focus. I begin to understand what Thou didst mean: "If thine eye be single thy whole body shall be full of light." My whole body is full of light. Thank Thee, Father. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Infectious Disease Involving Liver Spread by World War II

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

During previous wars typhoid, typhus, smallpox, influenza and other infectious diseases have often caused serious epidemics. In World War II a disease called epidemic or infectious hepatitis, while not as widespread as some of the epidemics of previous wars, has nevertheless caused a good deal of trouble.

This infectious disease has been recognized in occasional outbreaks or individual cases for a long time and was formerly called catarrhal jaundice. It is now safe to say that it is an infectious disease involving principally the liver. It has occurred in more or less widespread epidemics both in this country and in many of the theaters of military operation.

In about 85 per cent of the patients, there is an early period of the disease lasting a few days, which precedes the characteristic appearance of jaundice, or yellow coloration of the skin. In about one out of 10 the jaundice appears at the beginning. The early stage is usually accompanied by easy fatigability, slight nausea and almost complete loss of appetite.

About half of the patients have a fever of up to 103 degrees. The jaundice often gives the victim an intense yellow color of the skin and eyes and other mucous membranes; sometimes the yellow coloration is very slight indeed.

Headache is present in a few. After the jaundice has appeared the second stage lasts from about two to three weeks. A convalescent stage is recognized too, lasting for one or two months. Usually from six to eight weeks is required for full recovery, though a few patients may not be quite well even at the end of several months.

A chronic form has been described. Most seem to recover without any serious or permanent harmful effects. The most important part of treatment is to begin strict bed rest early and to keep it up for a long enough time. A diet containing a high proportion of protein foods is also used and seems to shorten the course of the disease.

THE STORY: Falling in love had not been Clemency Norton's idea when she became engaged to Syria and Jon Amberley. Clemency realizes that she has lost her heart to Syria Amberley, Jon's brother, at whose luxurious Algerian home the marriage took place. Syria, despising her weak husband and in love with Peter himself, makes ugly insinuations when she learns they have gone for a moonlight ride together. Later Peter and Clemency in the garden and asks her to reconsider his wife. Rapidly Clemency accepts. The next morning they tell Jon and Syria, standing at the top of the stairway, overhears the news.

XXIV

FOR a moment Syria Amberley remained at the top of the stairs looking down at Piers, her husband's brother, and Clemency Norton. One of Syria's hands gripped the banister beside her.

Then she began to descend. When she reached the bottom step, Syria was smiling at Piers.

"What?" she repeated, and this time, although there was something brittle in her voice, the word had an almost playful sound. "Did I hear right? Is the apparently incurable bachelor thinking of changing his state?"

"Determined to," said Piers coolly.

"Well—wonders will never cease! I certainly congratulate you—Clemency!"

As Syria looked deliberately at her, Clemency felt a little shock of dismay; she had known the other woman was angry with her last night, but she had never in all her life met such open hatred in anyone's eyes, though Syria's lips were smiling.

Piers said: "Is it I who should be congratulated?"

"Of course—conventionally. But I am sure Clemency will accept my tribute to her—cleverness."

"Thank you. I think I am very much to be congratulated," said Clemency quietly.

"I shall certainly dance at your wedding, Piers," said Syria lightly. "That is—if I am asked to. And poor Baba will have to get another governors. Does your engagement to me terminate from this moment. Clemency—I really can't call you Miss Norton any longer."

"No, of course not," replied Clemency quickly.

"We can discuss that later." Piers' tone was curt. "Meanwhile, I shall want Clemency this morning. I am driving into Biskra, and I should like her to go with me."

"That's all right," Syria glanced at Clemency again. "Perhaps you'll tell Loulie to cope. I only came down to find some cigarettes. I've a splitting head, and I'm going back to my room."

But if the cigarettes had seemed important, she had forgotten that. She turned and went quickly upstairs again without appearing to even notice that her husband was present.

Jon was leaning against the bottom of the banisters and perhaps Clemency was the only person who remained aware of his presence.

Beside her, Piers said: "Let's go out into the garden for a few minutes."

And as she followed him she carried with her the strangely uncomfortable memory of Jon watching his wife, his face contorted with an almost frightening grin of sardonic amusement.

PIERS was determined that Clemency should dine downstairs that evening.

When they had returned from their drive she had insisted on going up to the nursery and carrying on exactly as usual until Baba was in bed.

Justine's delight at the "so good news" had been spontaneous and sincere. Obviously everyone in the house knew it now—there was an air of "fete" about the servants. Abdul sent an outside basket of roses to the nursery where Clemency found it after her drive. Quite plainly the sheet would spread himself at dinner, which would be a celebration.

Man's Love Isn't Guaranteed But You Can Help to Keep It

"How can I keep my husband's love through the years?" a young wife wants to know.

No advice on how to keep a man's love comes with even a five-year guarantee, but here are a few suggestions:

Be a lady. Styles come and go, but a man always likes to think that his own wife is a lady—in the finest meaning of that old-fashioned word.

Be independent. Have some ideas of your own, some friends of your own, some outside interests of your own. You don't have to be a clinging vine to be feminine.

Be happy. Too many wives think it is up to their husbands to make them happy. But you'll never be happy if you demand happiness as a gift from someone else. Make yourself happy and you'll do the same for your husband and your home.

Be generous. A selfish woman is often successful at getting a man, but rarely successful in holding his love.

Be companionable. That isn't just a matter of sharing your husband's interests, but also of fitting your moods to his.

Pride in Your Job Is Important. Be proud of your job as wife and homemaker. Be good at the job and let your husband know you consider it worth your best.

Be trustworthy. A man needs to know that he can always count on his wife.

Be fun to live with. A sense of humor is a woman's best weapon against being bored or boring.

Be brave. A "cry-baby" wife or one who is afraid to meet life's challenges is never a real partner to her husband.

is a tiny living organism too small to see under the ordinary microscope. Infectious hepatitis was undoubtedly a more serious condition in the army overseas than among civilians in this country, but this difference can probably not be laid at the door of combat conditions.

Although much has already been learned about this disease, we can confidently expect that much more will be known about it within a few years. This is a good example of how new diseases and new health problems keep cropping up as the old ones become conquered.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

A fine bird dog, valued by its owner, T. H. Johnson, a contractor, at $200, was poisoned Friday.

D. H. Ritchie sold his 292 acre farm, four miles southwest of Sedalia, to A. N. Maupin, of Illinois.

A snow storm, remarkable for this season of the year, prevailed this morning, April 25, all over Missouri, northwestern Arkansas and eastern Kansas.

W. A. Latimer, cashier of the Third National Bank, returned from Ava, Mo., where he had been visiting relatives.

Otis J. Rogers, a railway mail clerk, with a run on the M. K. and T., left for Kansas City to attend a district convention of the Railway Mail association.

F. E. Gibbons, manager of the Western Union's telegraph office, who had been in St. Louis on company business, returned home.

C. L. Baxter, local contractor was awarded a contract for the erection of a two story residence at Sixteenth street and Carr avenue for Chris Streng, a baker, who with his family will occupy it when completed.

"Dick" Rohn's Joplin Miners, defeated the Bartlesville, Okla., club 5 to 3 in seventeen innings in one of the most bitterly contested games ever seen in the Western Association. Hamilton pitched seventeen innings and allowed but seven hits.

C. D. Divers, an M. K. T., civil engineer, and Engineers Yancey and Jett, of the same road, began staking out the site for new buildings at the M. K. and T. shops in this city, which will necessitate an expenditure of $175,000.

Miss Sadie Homan Club President for 42 Years

It was a cold snowy afternoon on January 11, 1908, that the Stony Point Embroidery club was organized at the home of Miss Zetta Wagenknecht, now Mrs. K. J. Morris, at the place that is still her home.

Attending the first meeting were Miss Sadie Homan, Mrs. G. A. DeHaven, Miss Zetta Wagenknecht, Mrs. S. R. Hotsenpiller and Miss Dossia Ross, the latter two now deceased.

Miss Sadie Homan was elected the first president and has served in that capacity the entire 42 years. The first secretary-treasurer was Mrs. G. A. DeHaven.

At the first meeting it was decided that the club would meet each Thursday afternoon at the homes of the different members and that refreshments would be served by the hostess. Refreshments were served at the first meeting, too. They were popcorn balls. The second meeting was held at the home of Mrs. G. A. DeHaven, who moved to Kansas City about 30 years ago and from there to Arizona and later to California where in January of this year she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Two Charter Members

Mrs. Morris and Miss Homan, the two remaining charter members are still faithful and active rarely ever missing a meeting, in fact they have missed very few during the entire 42 years.

The motive of the club is needlework, such as embroidery, crocheting, tatting, exchanging patterns and needlework ideas and to help each other whenever help is needed.

As time went on many new members were added and some of the number have died, some moved away and others were unable to attend so have dropped out.

It has been the custom of the club to give a shower at the marriage of a member or at the birth of a child. The first bridal shower was given for Stella Smith at the time of her marriage to Harry Ramseyer. The first baby shower was for Mrs. Ira DeHaven for her daughter, Doyne, on September 26, 1912. She is now Mrs. John Phillips of Kansas City.

Another custom has been to send flowers at the death of a member or anyone who died in the home of a member. The first flowers were for Mrs. Paul Smith. There have been many card showers to members who were ill and four showers have been given to members whose homes were destroyed by fire.

Pieced Friendship Quilt

A few years ago each member pieced a friendship quilt block for each of the other members and embroidered their names on each block. This made a friendship quilt for each member and when the blocks were joined together the club members quilted the quilts.

The first few Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members with each member giving small gifts to all of the other members and then the club grew so large that names were drawn for the exchange of gifts at Christmas time. In more recent years the club members have had secret pals.

Christmas is always an event with members of the club at which time their husbands and families are special guests at a contributive dinner. At first each member was assessed 25 cents to pay for oysters for oyster stew in addition to the rest of the contributive dinner but in more recent years they have not had the oyster stew. The Christmas party is always held in a home that is large enough to accommodate the crowd.

the hostess always served a lunch but as the membership grew it became a custom to have contributed lunches. The club president always reads a helpful thought for the day and returns thanks before the lunch is served.

In 1918, at Christmas time, each member gave a dollar to the Red Cross instead of having a gift exchange. Since that time the club has been making an annual contribution of five dollars to the Red Cross.

There have been four golden wedding anniversaries celebrated by club members, Mr. and Mrs. Valter Homan on October 19, 1932; Mr. and Mrs. Newt Hotsenpiller; March 1, 1946; Mr. and Mrs.

Life with Tax Gremlins: 1

Editor's Note: "Life With the Tax Gremlins" is a 12-part thumbnail story of the nation's complicated tax structure. The characters: Uncle Sam himself, his Gremlin, State and Local Tax Gremlins, and you—the taxpayers. It's from an "American Affairs" pamphlet published by the National Industrial Conference Board of New York, an independent, non-profit fact-finding institution supported by business, labor and other groups. Some of the articles include comment by Richard A. Mullens, Washington tax expert and author of NEA's annual "Income Tax Primer," which appears each year in the Sedalia Democrat-Capital.

This story begins with the empty bag and Uncle Sam briefing the three Gremlins who are going to fill it. The big Gremlin collects for the federal government; the other two go along to collect state and local taxes. When the bag is full the taxes have to be divided. Uncle Sam's share will be approximately three-quarters. What remains will be shared between the states and municipalities. Thus, three pairs of hands are always working in your pocket.

"Our economists seem to agree that taxation beyond 25 per cent of our national income will bring disaster. If you add up the actual and prospective annual expenditures of the federal government and then state and local governments, and if you truly compute the national income, you will find this warning red light shines with an intensity considerably over 30 per cent. This means far more than nearly one-third of the national income. It means a combustion of your savings and your possible standards of living." — The Honorable Herbert Hoover.

"If every farmer sold his farm, all the equipment on it, and all the livestock, the total return would be $25,000,000,000. The government could not run seven months on that amount of money." — Senator Edward Martin.

The drivers, members of the Teamsters Local Union No. 541, did not report for work today. Picket lines were set up at the 33 wholesale and retail lumber yards affected by the strike.

The contract between the union and lumbermen expired at midnight last night. The union is seeking a 20-cent hourly wage increase and certain vacation adjustments.

Joseph H. Gunther, president of the Retail Lumbermen's Association of Kansas City, said the vacation modifications had been granted.

O. L. Ring, union representative, said the lumbermen had offered no wage increase.

"The walkout is bound to tie up construction," Gunther said.

Important Events In World News

Weckler indicated the company and the CIO United Auto Workers have agreed on general terms of a contract which provides $100 monthly pensions, including federal social security.

Bus With Band Breaks Down

Twenty-five members of the Green Ridge band, en route to the Musical Festival in Columbia, Friday morning, escaped injuries when the bus in which they were riding, ran off into a ditch, between Sedalia and Green Ridge, after a left front wheel of the bus worked loose, and came off.

Gordon Brownfield, who drives the school bus, owned by the Green Ridge school, said no one was hurt, and he didn't know what caused the wheel to come off the axle. A wrecker from Sedalia was called and the broken down bus was towed back to Green Ridge.

Another bus came for the band members and took them on to Columbia, where they participated in the festival that day, and returned to Green Ridge that night.

Heads Girls Training School

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1 (AP)—Miss Dorothy Forrest, a 45-year old instructor at the University of Missouri, will become the new superintendent at the Chillicothe Training School for Girls May 15, it was announced today.

Miss Forrest replaces Mrs. Lena R. Smithson who resigned in February to take additional training at northeast Missouri State college, Kirksville.

The state training school board appointed Miss Forrest despite the fact she has not taken a state merit system examination.

The board took the stand last December that superintendents at the three state training schools for delinquents do not come under merit system laws.

The new superintendent at Chillicothe has been an instructor at the university at Columbia for the last four years. Earlier she was a teacher in Carrollton, Mo., public schools for a number of years.

She holds degrees from Baker university at Baldwin, Kas., and from Northwestern university. She also has studied at the universities of Missouri, Southern California and Oxford university in England.

His salary as cashier was $3,000 a year.

Fly Control Pointers for Dairy Farms

Clean-Up Program With Proper Use Of Insecticides

Soon flies will be presenting a problem on dairy farms states the Extension office. The U. S. Public Health Service has issued the following on fly control on dairy farms.

The use of insecticides alone to control flies on a farm is of little consequence unless accompanied by a good clean-up program. All manure should be removed and disposed of in such manner as best to prevent the breeding of flies.

Based on existing Federal regulations and recommendations, the following suggestions are being furnished for the use of insecticides on dairy farms:

1. DDT—DDT is NOT to be used on the interior of dairy barns, lounging sheds, milk houses, or on dairy animals. It can, however, be used for spraying the exterior of such buildings. On the interior, for applying a residual spray, there are several insecticides which have been approved or recommended for use by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to which no objection has been offered by the Food and Drug Administration.

2. METHOXYCHLOR—This material is one of the newer insecticides and is available on the market as a 50% wettable powder in small unit packages. Before purchasing, make sure that Methoxychlor is the only insecticidally active ingredient.

A. Dairy Barns, Milk House, and Lounging Sheds—Methoxychlor is mixed at the rate of one pound of the 50% wettable powder to 2½ gallons of water and the mixture sprayed with a hand or power sprayer on the walls at a rate of application to make the walls wet, but not running. At this rate one gallon should cover approximately one thousand square feet of wall surface. Repeat as often as presence of flies make it necessary. Generally, complete instructions are furnished on the label of each package; follow them closely.

B. How to Spray Cattle (Including Dairy Cattle) Using Methoxychlor. Use a 50% Methoxychlor wettable powder at the rate of one pound in 12½ gallons of water, and apply about one quart but not more than 2 quarts of the mixture per animal. Applications may have to be repeated every two weeks depending upon the prevalence of flies.

Methoxychlor is the only one of these products that may be used for spraying cattle or cattle for slaughter.

3. PYRETHRIN MIXTURES—Pyrethrins mixed with pyrethrin activators may be used in place of Methoxychlor. These mixtures give knock-down of insects but have little residual effect. Nothing in this should be construed as recommending against the use of Pyrethrins for spraying cattle or dairy barns.

4. LINDANE—Another product recently released which may be used for spraying of dairy barns, lounging sheds, and milk houses is manufactured under the common name of Lindane. It is possible that this product may not be as easily obtainable as Methoxychlor, however, it is applied in a similar manner a Methoxychlor using a hand or power sprayer for spraying walls, ceilings, and so forth, (but not on cattle). This spray should not exceed ½% concentration, made by mixing one pound of 25% wettable powder to ten gallons of water.

5. Under no circumstances are oil solutions or emulsifiable concentrates of insecticides to be used on animals.

Mystery Farm Pictures in Central Missouri---

Whose farm is it? Occupants of the above farm home may have wondered this spring about a plane buzzing low over their buildings. The picture explains it. The airplane pilot didn't know whose farm it was. The photographer didn't either. The two of them just flew around the Central Missouri area served by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital newspapers and took pictures. They couldn't take pictures of all the farms but they got as many good shots as possible during the light time.

So about once a week hereafter, until the pictures run out, the Sedalia Democrat-Capital will print these farm home pictures as a news feature. The newspapers would like to know whose farm homes they are.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mahin are owners of the farm pictured last week on the farm page. It consists of 85 acres and is located 12 miles west of Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cardwell live on the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Mahin reside on a 300 acre farm nearby. Mr. Mahin has lived on the farm for the past 52 years.

Mr. Mahin said he does general farming and is raising about 93 head of Black Angus cattle and a few hogs. Mrs. Mahin raises a few chickens and gardens in the summer.

They have four children, of whom three are married and the other, Miss Charlotte Mahin, is a teacher at Pattonville, Mo.

F. L. Schenk of LaMonte reported to the Sedalia Democrat news office to claim a free picture of his farm, which appeared in the "Farm Mystery" two weeks ago.

Mr. Schenk said the 260 acre farm, located about nine miles west of Sedalia on highway 50, was owned by his mother, Mrs.

Elizabeth Schenk and by him. There are two houses located on the farm, equipped with electricity and bottled gas. Mrs. Schenk and her nephew, Frederick Hintz live in one of the houses and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Schenk live in the other.

Mr. Schenk said he was born on the farm 56 years ago and that his father died several years ago. The farmer said he did general farming and was now raising 17 head of Black Angus cattle and a bunch of hogs. His wife raises a few chickens and gardens a little.

June 22 Lamb Marketing Day

The State 4-H Club recently announced that the annual 4-H club lamb marketing day will be held in Kansas City on June 22. This 4-H marketing day provides 4-H club members an opportunity to market their lambs on a grade basis that usually results in higher prices paid to the 4-H'ers.

A full program is being planned for the 4-H members who bring lambs to Kansas City on that date. This program includes a lamb grading contest, wool grading demonstration, a lunch by the courtesy of the Stockyards Co., a sound movie "Chisholm Trail," and discussions on lamb production and market demands and trends.

Although the 4-H ewe and lamb project is one of most practical livestock projects offered it has not kept pace with other livestock projects. It is generally agreed that sheep will return the money invested, dollar for dollar faster than any other livestock. It is the purpose of such events as the 4-H lamb marketing day to encourage more boys and girls to raise sheep as a livestock project. In return, the more lambs that are consigned by club members at this event, the more attractive the offer is to buyers.

First prize, three-year-old heifer, Senior and Grand Champion female of the 1950 show. The winner was shown by the Bonne Terre Ranch of Hugheville, Mo. More than fifty entries were shown by eighteen exhibitors. The winners are now eligible for the American Royal stock show to be held this month May 7-13 in Kansas City.

Club members who plan to market their lambs in June should feed them liberally using a feeding creep to insure that the lambs get all they can eat. Troughs should be cleaned daily and the lambs will probably do better if fed twice daily the amount of feed they will clean up in 15 minutes. Cracked corn is sufficient feed until the lamb weighs approximately 60 lbs. Then corn, ten parts, and soybean meal, one part, or corn six parts and oats two parts, plus good leguminous hay or pasture will be the best fattening ration. The lambs should be on the best pasture available to insure rapid economical gain.

Meeting be Held On Roof Repair

The 4-H Metal Roofing Conservation Training school and Demonstration will be held on May 8 in Cooper county according to Bryan Phifer, Assistant County Agent. The place of the meeting will be announced later. The training school will be under the direction of Hermar J. Hall, Extension Agricultural Engineer from the University of Missouri and Charles Matthews, Field Engineer for the American Zinc Institute.

During the demonstration a galvanized roof will be repaired, painted and grounded for lightning protection. This work will be done by 4-H club members from Cooper, Boone and Pettis counties during the morning training school session.

At 1:30 p. m. Mr. Hall and Mr. Matthews will conduct a metal roofing demonstration and general farm building meeting that is open to the public.

Metal roofing will be given special attention. The following main subjects will be discussed:

1. Selection of roofing.
2. Applying sheets.
3. Short cuts to better repairs and painting.
4. Grounding metal roofs for lightning protection.

All farmers and farm owners who plan to build or repair farm buildings are invited to attend. A discussion of general farm building problems will be an added feature of the meeting.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says insects are the greatest single cause of forest destruction.

Heffer Peril Belittled

WASHINGTON—(P)—A Maryland farm worker sued his employer, a Washington resident, for damages. He said a heifer had stepped on his foot, injuring him, and that the animal was "dangerous."

District Judge Richmond B. Keech wouldn't go along with him. He acknowledged heifers might be excitable but not generally dangerous, like a tiger or rattlesnake. He dismissed the suit.

Cards Nipped Cubs 1-0 in a Pitcher's Duel

Redbirds Will Meet Their Old Rivals At Home Tonight

By The Associated Press

Three men up—three men down. That was the story for most of the 12 1/2 innings at Sportsman's park in St. Louis yesterday.

Harry Brecheen and Johnny Schmitz had a real mound battle going.

Then catcher Del Rice broke it up with a long blast into the right field pavillion to give the Cardinals a 1 to 0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the fourth hit off Schmitz who had walked two and struck out two. The ball hit the top of the concrete wall and bounced in to the seats.

Brecheen gave up five hits, one walk and struck out eight.

Rice was the only Redbird to get past first base. In the fifth inning he reached third on a double and a long fly.

Opportunity Failed

The Cubs best chance was in the twelfth when Wayne Terwilliger reached third but Roy Smalley struck out to end the inning. Altogether seven Cubs reached base in four innings—the second, third, tenth and twelfth. They were on three singles, two doubles, a hit batsman and the walk, which was intentional.

It was sweet revenge for Brecheen who had lost a heart-breaking three-hit 2-0 game to the Cubs in Chicago April 21. It was the first start for Schmitz since opening day April 18 when he won from Cincinnati 9-6.

Rain put another strain on the St. Louis Browns schedule when it halted a planned doubleheader between the Browns and the Cleveland Indians at Cleveland. That made six Brownie games postponed so far this season.

The Cardinals are back in action tonight with the Brooklyn Dodgers as their guests.

Kentucky Derby This Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1—(AP)—King Ranch has decided on a one-two punch for Saturday's Kentucky derby.

That was determined last night when trainer Max Hirsch arrived from New York and said Middle-ground would go in the derby trial tomorrow and On the Mark would wait for the derby.

Previously it was believed On the Mark would have to earn his way by a good showing in the trial.

On the Mark, who has yet to win a race, ran surprisingly well in the recent Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland, finishing third to Mr. Trouble and Oil Capitol.

Middleground's appearance in the trial will give fans a chance to compare the west's hopefuls with the east's. For Ben Jones, Calumet farm trainer, is almost sure to send Theory out to meet Middleground in the trial.

There should be at least four other derby eligibles in the trial—including the Brookmeade entry of Greek ship and Sunglow, A. E. Reuben's Lot O'Luck and Wilburton farm's Trumpet King.

The current derby favorite—Your Host—breeded three-eighths of a mile yesterday in the rain in 37 seconds. His chances in the mud are unknown, for the thoroughbred, owned by Hollywood movieman Bill Goetz, has never raced on an off track.

Trainers generally are speculating about the weather prospects for derby day, but the weatherman has said it is too early to forecast. There have been showers here the past two days.

Injured Hurler Makes Comeback

CINCINNATI, May 1—(AP)—Watch out, national league—Ewell Blackwell's pitching again!

The gangling hurler casually strolled to the mound yesterday for his first starting appearance since 1948. And—backed up beautifully by his Cincinnati Reds teammates—he spun a five-hit 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates against Mel Queen's two-hit pitching.

For Cincinnati's rooters, that was it—Blackie had found his stuff again. They've been waiting impatiently for the big guy to deliver as he did in 1947, when he set the league afire with 22 wins.

Since then he had been plagued by physical troubles. First his shoulder hurt and he won only seven while losing nine in 1948. Then recuperating from a kidney removal, he appeared only in relief roles last year, winning five, dropping five.

He couldn't have picked a better time to come through than yesterday. The win kept a Cincinnati comeback perking.

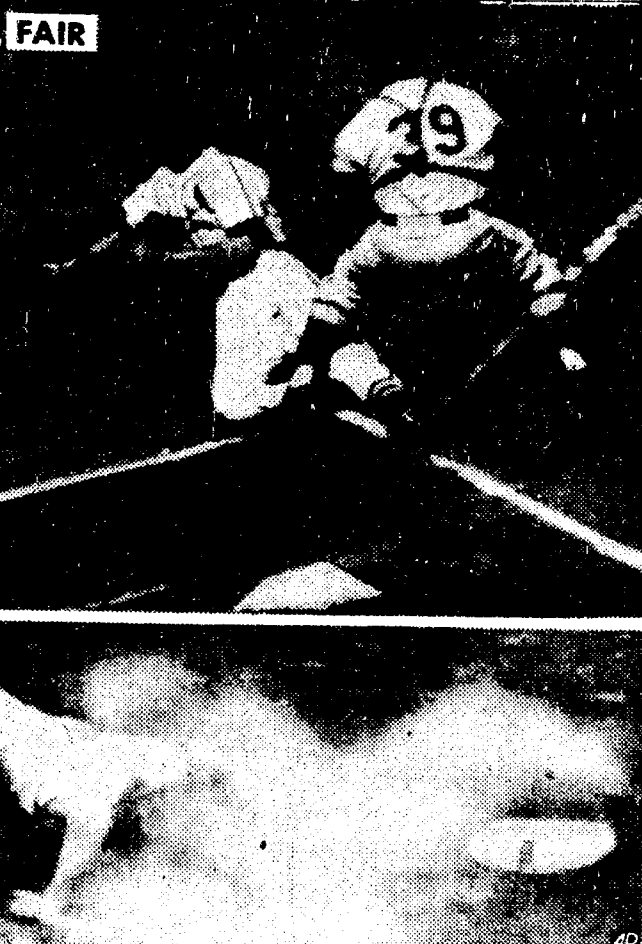

Cincinnatians had glumly watched the Reds lose their first six games. Then Herm Wehmeier suddenly broke through with a splendid two-hit job in Chicago Friday and the Reds nuzzle into the win column.

Back to the queen city came the club to set Cincinnati back on its delighted heels by taking three straight from the pirates. Those four-in-a-row make up the longest winning streak the team had enjoyed since early 1948.

FAIR—Brooklyn's Roy Campanella blocks Marty Marion of the Cardinals at home (photo at right). This play still is allowed. However, if the catcher blocks the plate and does not have the ball, the runner is permitted to go out of the baseline to reach home plate.

FOUL—Here Boston's Ted Williams goes out of his way attempting to break up a double play. The A's Pete Suder is in the act of throwing the batter out at first base. Had Williams bothered Suder's throw, the umpire could have called the batter out, too.

Richmond, Mo. to Stage Championship Tourney

WICHITA, Kas., May 1—(AP)—The National Baseball Congress Saturday announced Richmond had been awarded franchise to stage a sanctioned district championship baseball tournament, starting June 26.

Malcolm Edgar of Richmond was named district commissioner to supervise the event, his appointment having previously been approved by Gene Kurash of Kansas City, N. B. C. Missouri state commissioner. The event will be under the sponsorship of Richmond American Legion Post 237.

District champions will be assured certification in the 15th annual Missouri state tournament at Sedalia, starting July 21, President Raymond Dumont announced.

Leaders in The ABC Bowling Tournament

COLUMBUS, O., May 1—(AP)—The American Bowling & Billiard team of New York City shot into second place in team standings in the American Bowling Congress tournament today with a 2932 total.

With the leadership of the 16-day tournament almost in sight after games of 970 and 1053, the B & B team faltered in the third game with a 909. That was six pins short of the 2938 mark hung up April 18 by Harry's Men's Wear of Norwood, O.

Meister Brau of Chicago popped into fourth place with Junie McMahon, national match game champion, leading the way with 620. The Meister Brau crew fashioned its 2883 total from games of 903, 100 and 980.

Results of Nation's Top Track Teams

By Milo Farnetti

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—An injured back, perhaps, is all that stands in the way of boosting the world's record for the shot put to 60 feet.

Michigan's Charlie Fonville, the athlete with the bad back, was the world's best shot putter two years ago and still holds the official mark of 58 feet 3/4 inches.

But Jim Fuchs of Yale twice has surpassed Fonville's world record. The 215-pound easterner did it a second time in the warm California sun Saturday with a 58-foot 5 1/2 inch heave. His team placed third behind Southern California and Michigan State in a battle of NCAA contenders.

The same day, in the mud and gloom at Des Moines, Fonville won the Drake relays title with a comparatively puny heave of 52 feet 1 1/2 inches. He returned to competition this season after laying out last year and either has lost his terrific snap or is favoring the back.

Rivalry Meet

Fuchs and Fonville expect to meet at least twice this year, in the NCAA and national AAU championships next month.

The nation's leading college track teams were in action on three fronts—the Penn relays at Philadelphia, the Drake relays and Des Moines and the triangular meet at Los Angeles involving Southern California, Michigan State and Yale.

Des Moines saw the fastest 100 yard dash of the three meets; Paul Bienz of Tulane stepping off the distance in .09.7, compared

MacKenzie's Column

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Former President Hoover's call for a scrapping of the present United Nations set-up, and the creation of another peace organization from which the Communist nations would be barred, is startling but wholly understandable.

It is of course based on the certainty—to which this column long ago called attention—that the U.N. never can succeed so long as it remains a house divided against itself. Communism and democracy are diametrically opposed on all points. There is no possibility of compromise between them.

Mr. Hoover made his sweeping proposal in an address before a Bureau of Advertising banquet ending the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York. He put the proposition like this:

Hoover's Suggestion
"I suggest that the United Nations should be reorganized without the Communist nations in it. If that is impractical, then a definite new united front should be organized of those peoples who disavow Communism, who stand for morals and religion, and who love freedom."

Hoover declared that the "new united front" he advocates is nothing like "a proposed extension of a military alliance," and added:

"It is a proposal based solely upon moral, spiritual and defense foundations . . .

"What the world needs today is a definite, concrete mobilization of the nations who believe in God against this tide of Russian agnosticism."

Comprises 59 Countries

The U.N. comprises 59 countries. Of these the Soviet bloc claims five, with untamed Yugoslavia sometimes making a sixth. Russia, supported by this tiny minority but armed with the all-powerful veto power in the security council, has persistently stymied most of the efforts of the majority. Meantime the Communist bloc has used the U.N. as an unparalleled sounding-board for red propaganda.

Linked With Gambling

its present lines was logical at the time of its creation. The ideal was a brotherhood of all nations. However, more than four years of bitter experience have demonstrated this:

Oil and Water Don't Mix

You can pour oil and water into a bottle, and shake the bottle till hades freezes over—and the two still won't have mixed.

Present day Communism isn't the largely beneficent ideology the world knew generations ago. Then it was a plan for communities to share and share alike. Today we are dealing with a Bolshevism which calls for the overthrow of all democracies and the establishment of totalitarian governments whose sovereignty rests in Moscow.

Old time Communism might have lived side-by-side with other ideologies. The current brand of Communism cannot.

The ideal of "one world" cannot be achieved under these circumstances. We are forced to recognize that, for the present, there must be "two worlds." And by that token there must be two United Nations—one comprising the democracies and the other the Communist states. Of his proposed new U.N., Mr. Hoover says:

"It may be that the non-Communist world is not willing to take such a vital stand. At least it would clarify what we have to do. The test I propose is the logical and practical method of total diplomacy. It would make diplomacy dynamic and lessen the dangers of the American people."
